SENATOR CARPENTER'S ARLE LEGAL ARGUME
IN THE SENATE.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribuna.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6.—Matt Carpen made one of his notable legal specehes on Pitz John Porter case to-day. Mr. Carpente a debater on constitutional questions is not a passed in the Senate. His arguments are alw well arranged, careful, and studied, and are avered with the grace of an accomplished o
tor. His opponents are as eager to hear him are his friends. Democrats who for the m part had vacated their seats during Loga scathing analysis of the Fitz John Porter te mony, to-day returned and listened Carpenter to the end. They derived comfort from it. Their best lawyers seem if faces indicate anything, to admit that C penter's argument that Congress cannot reop the decision of the court-martial, or cannot,
fact, under the Constitution grant a pardon,
WAS UNANSWERARLE,

Mr. Carpenter said: "I had in-with testimony on the question r. Porter guilty? There are two to not. In the first place, I think cessary, because, if we have no power to pardon him, or, what is relieve him from that judgment proceeding whatever, it is imkilled and wounded. Every train of cars that penetrated the interior States for months afterwards came freighted with the sacred remains of our alaughtered soldiers. They were piled up in pine boxes around our dopots like merchandise, and sleep now in green graves that dot every hill and every green valley in Wisconsin. Our people will not soon forget Fitz John Porter. They will never forgive him. They would not soon forget me, and never forgive me, if I should stand as their representative and vote to put Fitz John Porter back where he would have been if he had not fallen, and pay him all that he would have had if he had remained in the service and served his country faithfully. Queer things are being done these days. This thing may be done by the Senate. It will not be done by my vote. I should regard it as a disgraceful act for Congress to do. Nevertheless, Mr. Prosident, God's will be done. It may be that even this last travesty upon justice is necessary. They tell us that whom the gods would destroy they first make mad. It may be, although it seems impossible, that the Democrats are not mad enough yet to insure their total destruction. This last act may be needed to convince the American people that to insure proper discrimination between virtue and vice, to fix proper punishment upon disloyaity, and hold the rebellion in check, we need in the White House once more the steady hand, cool head, and the patriotic heart of U. S. Grant. [Great applause.]

Mr. Bayard obtained the floor, but yielded to a motion for executive session, and when the doors were reopened the Senate adjourned until Monday.

THE CANAL PROJECT.

WORKING IN HARMONY.

Special Dispotch to The Chicago Tribusa.

WARHINGTON, D. C., March 6.—The reports at there are differences between the President at Secretary Evarts only the interoceanic canal Monroe doctrine matter are unfounded. It is we said that although there may have been me differences, both the President and Secretary of State are in full accord on all the questus involved. It is certain that Mr. Evarts is operating with the President in the arrangement of the documents soon to be sent to Convess with comments. Mr. Evarts has had charge the diplematic and legal part of the matter, and has devoted special attention to the treaty lations between the United States, European overs, and the States of Central America. It prears definitly that the United States is bound treaty with Colombia to protect the territal rights of the latter Government if a canal built, and this guarantee seems to be of such nature that under this treaty the United ates cannot permit any foreign government interfere. Indeed, while De Lesseps is very ivorably received here socially, he is.

NOT LIKELY TO MAKE ANY PROGRESS the is canal schome. The best thing he could, one of those near the Administration said day, if he wishes to dig a canal, would be to be out naturalization papers as an American tisen. There is no possible doubt that, so far the United States is concerned, the attitude the Administration will be that no canal capet will be worth considering which does of insure to this Government absolute littary and naval control over it, and at, "until we are ready to insist upon complete reconstruction of our diplomatic believes the Clayton-Bulwer treaty), it is saily a mere waste of words to discuss enginering plans about a canal through the termina.

The Lesseps called upon the President toly, and although the conference was not of an insist largeting that De

ARRANGEMENTS WITH THE UTES.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribuna.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6.—Pinal action was had to-day in the negotiations with the Utes for the cession of their territory in Colorado, by the formal signing, by all the Chiefs here, of the agreement whose main features have already been foreshadowed in these dispatches. The agreement binds the Indiana, first, to use their utmost endeavor to deliver the Mecker assasins, and, failing in that, to place no obstacle in the way of their punishment by the Government. Second, to cede all their lands in Colorado. It binds the Government, first, to cede to these Utes lands in severalty, as follows: To the Southern Utes, represented by Ignatio, a strip of territory in Northern New Mexico; to the White River Utes, represented by Jack, a portion of the Ulntah Reservation in Utah; and to the Uncompangre Utes, represented by Ourany, a reservation, just over the Utah line along the Grand River Valley. Second, to pay to these Indians and the base formers the sum of $50.000 annual. River Valley. Second, to pay to these Indians and their heirs forever the sum of $50,000 annually in addition to the sums paid now under former treaty stipulations.

The result of these negotiations is considered by Mr. Schurz and Gen. Adams as

It is the first time in the history of this country when a tribe of wild Indians has agreed to take lands in severalty. The Allotment bill, now pending in the Committee of Indian Affairs, contemplates a change of all Indian holdings in this regard, but the provisional treaty signed today is the first actual step in that direction. When the document was produced in the presence of the Indians to-day for signature, there was a good deal of hanging back and pushing of one another forward precisely as if they had been a parcel of half-grown schoolboys. Ourny, who is a wise man, did not want to take the lead, as he has invariably done in case of former treaties,

LEST HE MIGHT INCUR BLANK

if dissatisfaction were afterward found by his people. Adams solved the problem by calling, in a peremptory tone, to Sawanick, as the oldest Chief present, to come forward and make his mark, which he did promptly, after which all signed in turn.

A bill embodying the features of the agreement will be drafted by the Secretary to-morrow and submitted to both Houses on Monday. The next, work will be to get Congress to do something, and this will probably be the most discouraging part of the whole business. Gen. Adams will stay here for the purpose of urging Congress to act. He is confident that the Utes will ratify the action of their representatives here with scarcely a dissenting voice.

To the Western Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6.—Negotiations with the Utes were concluded to-day. The formal agreement provides in the first paragraph on the part of the Indians that they will procure the surrender of those of their nation insplicated in the murder of Agent Meeker and his employes, and, in case they do not succeed in apprehending the parties, they will faithfully aid any officers of the United States directed to make the arrests.

aid any officers of the United States directed to make the arrests.

The second paragraph cedes to the United States all the territory of the present Ute Reservation in Colorado, one quarter section (80 acres) of agricultural land and a like quantity of grasting land to each head of a family, and one-half this quantity to each single person, being set apart for the settlement of the Indians. The Southern Utes agree to settle upon unoccupied agricultural lands on the La Plata River, Colorado, and New Mexico, or in that vicinity; the Uncompahyres to go to Grand River, near the mouth of the Gunnison, Colorado; the White River Utes will take up lands on the Unitah Reservation, Utah. The Indians are to select their own allotments of lands in these locations. Provision is made for roads and highways. This agreement is entered into by the Ute Chiefs, who promise to obtain the consent of their people to the cession of their reservation upon the following expressed conditions:

First—The Government to survey and patent to the Indians in severalty the lands reserved.

ment, the annuities heretofore provided for by Congress, amounting at this time to $60,000, will be paid to the Indians in eash, and as much more will be added as Congress shall appropriate. This annuity is to be paid in cash at the request of the Indians, the President having the discretion to pay it in eash or stock, wagons, and agricultural implements, etc. The latter are to be furnished sufficient for their reasonable wants; also such asw and grist mills as may be necessary to enable them to commence farming operations as soon as their settlement is affected. A commission will be appointed to superintend their settlement; and to attend to currying out this agreement; and the money appropriated by Congress for this purpose shall be apportioned as follows: One-third to those who settle on the La Plata River; one-half to those going to the Uintah Reservation.

Third—In addition, as pay for their lands, the Utes are to receive an annuity of $50,000, to be distributed among them per capita, and their present annuity of $25,000 be continued. The support of the Utes until they can become self-supporting, and the education of their children, is provided for.

THE CHINESE.

RESULT OF INQUIRIES.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribuna.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6.—Inquiry at the Chinese Legation to-night in reference to the published announcement that a delegation representing the Six Companies is now on its way to Washington to have an interview with the President in reference to the treatment of the Chinese in San Francisco, elicited the reply that no such delegation was expected; that nothing was known about it, and the Legation would have little to do with it officially, even if the delegation did come, as the Six Companies form an independent concern. When asked if the Chinese Consul at San Francisco had not applied for Federal protection for the Chinese there, a rather evasive answer was returned, but the impression was conveyed that acting-Minister Yung Wing had called the attention of the State Department to the subject.

SENATOR PARKEY

to-day said that he would oppose an appropriation to defray the expenses of the Commission which the Fresident proposes to send to China to negotiate a new treaty, unless the members of the Commission were satisfactory to him. Farley stated further he would certainly antagonize the selection of men who were not known to be in harmony with the general sentiment of his constituents on the Chinese question, and who would not frame such a treaty as they wanted. As the sole object of the President in sending a commission to China is to negotiate a treaty that will correct the evils frowing out of the Burlingame treaty. Farley's opposition seems so unreasonable that he cannot escape from the criticism that he cannot escape from t

Considerations wait that although there may have been some differences, both the President and Secretary of State are in full accord on all the questions involved. It is certain that Mr. Evarts is cooperating with the President in the arrangement of the documents soon to be sent to Congress with comments. Mr. Evarts has had charge of the diplematic and legal part of the matter, and has devoted special attention to the treaty country and the States of Central America. It appears definity that the United States is bound by treaty with Colombia to protect the territorial rights of the latter Government if a canal is built, and this guarantee seems to be of such a nature that under this treaty the United States cannot permit any foreign government to interfere. Indeed, while De Lessops is very service to the service of the committee will, of course, be developed. The opinion of the Treasury Department in relation to the new Sugar bill introduced by Mr. Carlisle has been officially requested by the Ways and Means Committee. An answer will be returned on Monday to the effect that the measure has the approval of the Department and is in accord with the recommendation made by Secretary Sherman two years ago. The Committee will be informed that the passage of this bill, or one of similar character, will relieve the Department from vexatious suits, and obviate the necessity for any further seizures of cargoes of sugar. It is not believed at the Department that the Carlisle bill, if it passes, will give the Government as much revenue as received under the existing laws, but this point is one for Congress to determine and settle. of the great fraud and the great barrel, and he will press them for all they are worth to his chances. His position, as it is generally recognized here, is thus stated: The Kelly defection would seem to bar him out of the Presidential race, as it will be urged by his enemies in the Convention that if nominated he is sure to lose the State of New York, and thus be surely defeated in the attempt to attain the Presidency. The answer will be that Kelly cannot hold his forces in a Presidential contest, and that Tilden, if he receives the Cheinnati nomination, will have the votes of all New York Democrats excepting a few personal enemies like Judge Church and Kelly, and a small band of canal men and Tammanyites. This defection, it will be claimed, will be more than offset by the support of disaffected Republicans. Whatever may be said as to the strength of this argument, there can be no question that Tilden is a Presidential candidate.

BANDALL'S PREDICTION.
Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6.—Mr. Samuel J. Randall, who certainly ought to know what he is talking about, is reported to have said this week that he could unequivocally announce that Tilden will be a candidate. The impression is that Tilden will make this announcement for himself at the New York State Convention.

Senator Wallace, of Pennsylvania, is reported to have recently written to Col. McClure, of the Philadelphia Times, urging him to support Bayard for the Presidency, notwithstanding the Secession speech in 1861. By the same authority McClure is reported to have replied that it would be the supremest folly to attempt to make a candidate of Bayard. As well might a man attempt to swim with a millstone hanging to his neck.

A GRANT DEMONSTRATION.

Special Disputch to The Chicago Tribuna.

CINCINNATI, O., March 6.—The opening of the Republican Club rooms to-night was a pronounced Grant demonstration. Stanley Matthews, who delivered an address, declared himself for the Chicago nominee, whoever he might be; but before closing his speech he managed to speak of Gen. Grant in a way that clearly indicated to his hearers what his personal preferences were. Judge Matthews amounced himself several months ago for Grant. The new Republican Club is a rival to the Lincoln Club, which is largely under Sherman influence. It is presided over by Judge Taft, whose preference for Grant is well known. The new organization promises to surpass the Lincoln Club in numbers and influence.

CHICAGO. THE BLAINE CLUB

held its third meeting last evening at the Grand Pacific Hotel. The attendance was very fair in point of numbers, and included several of the more prominent ones engaged in the Blaine movement in Chicago.

In the absence of the temporary Chairman, James P. Root, the meeting was called to order by Mr. O. S. A. Sprague, who stated that, at a meeting the previous evening of the Executive Committee, the following permanent officers had been elected: President, C. M. Henderson; Vice-Presidents, George Sherwood, Charles J. Sundell; Secretary, John J. Healy; Treasurer, A. N. Waterman; members of the Executive Commit-Waterman; members of the Executive Commit-tee, in addition to those already elected, Ninth Ward, David W. Clark; Thirteenth Ward, B. G.

Mr. Sprague asked the meeting whom it we have to preside over its deliberations in Mr. Henderson's absence. Col. A. N. Waterman nominated the Hon. L.

ing the WARD EXECUTIVE COMMITTEES, consisting of one from each precinct, for the object and purpose or forming a Blaine Club in each ward. It was the important duty of this Ward Executive Committee to see that the people came out at the primaries and elected Blaine delegates to the State Convention. [Applause.] It was important, also, to secure a permanent place of meeting, and keep the headquarters open until the day of the Chicago Convention. While they were not fighting anybody, they expected to surround the city with a good Blaine atmosphere, and give the Blaine delegates from all over the country a hearty welcome. [Applause.] Their object, in short was to see that the people of this State had a chance to express their honest preference, and that that preference was for James G. Blaine. [Applause.]

Ald. Everett hoped immediate efforts would be put forth to organize the Blaine sentiment in this city. Mr. Tuthill was certainly wrong when he advertised the people of the Weat Side as for Grant. They were for Blaine, three to one [applause.] and he wanted to see them organized and given a chance to show the machine politicians that any scheme for turning over their votes against their well-known preferences would fail, as it ought to do. [Applause.]

Col. Waterman stated that the Executive Committee would meet at his office. No. 88 La Salle street, Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, to appoint the Ward Executive Committee the adjournment, ald the Committee by suggesting suitable names.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribuna.
CHICAGO, March 7.—The great cost of embroidered pettiegate and allk stockings during Grant's term of the Presidency has never been quite understood by the subscriber till reading at my breakfast-table on Tuesday magning.

Grant's term of the Presidency has never been quite understood by the subscriber till reading at my breakfast-table on Tuesday morning a letter in the columns of your paper.

I have been wavering on the subject of petticoats and third-termism, have read Washington's Farewell Address, "Pilgrim's Progress," "The Arabian Knights," and selections from the immortal Tupper in order to settle my disturbed brain on these vexed questions, and have only found relief in the perusal of the letter abovementioned. My gratitude has been exercised to its utmost towards its author, Jane G. Swisshelm (I mean no disrespect by leaving the Grey part of her name represented by the initial G. only). It was profound, and found expression in loud acclamations when this discovery was made, and the cause of this outlandish and coatly display, even when noticed by men of taste, of the silk stockings, embroidered petiticoats, and otherundergarments of the ladies of the Grant period.

I fully agree with Jane that no "close obsewer" can overlook the fact that a large share of the defalcations and forgeries of that time grew out of these petiticoats and stockings.

It is a subject which was should mention with becoming modesty, but plain words and heroic treatment are the most potent nostrums to insure a cure of these diseases, Grantism, third-termism, silk stockings, and Swisshelmism. Therefore I run no risk in affirming that every man who was unfortunate enough to have had a wife during Grant's Administration must have observed upon and about his own wife, and many of us about other men's wives, displays of these gaudy things, the only tendency of which was to bewilder, torment, and vex.

Hardly a doubt can exist in the mind of any reasonable man that Grant is directly or remotely charge able with the responsibility of every baby born with all toes and no teeth, with the destruction of Chicago in 1811, with every case of measies, and the yellow-fever in Memphis. It, however, remains for the productive and presnant brain of this writer on mu

South Side, is also pushed forward by his friends. A change of Administration would cause a sweep in the Police and Fire Departments. To those who regard Chief Kennedy as a marry this is especially undersible. It is not his desire to remain in office, but he would prefer to resign under a Democratic Mayor than to be ousted by a Republican executive. Undonted by the Common Council will remain Republication. Under all the circumstances, it is easily understood that the campaign will be an animated one. The common prediction and belief is that it will be more heated and acrimonious than any municipal struggle ever witnessed in Milwaukes. Religion and mationality are to be important factors in the event. The natural desire of one crowd to maintain their official positions and of another to displace them is surpussed by other sentiments. The election is expected to settle, beyond peradventure, the mooted question washer the City of Bricks is Republican or Democratic.

with dvorniks, who refused to give admission to persons wishing to visit friends or relations. In an adjoining street I saw one arrest for the same reason. On Sunday there was a very violent storn of wind and drifting snow, and few people were out. The Emperor, in passing from the Winter Paiace to the usual parade at the Riding-School, was escorted by Cossacks, and followed by one of the District Police-masters in a sleigh. Those who saw His Majesty's cortége of course removed their caps. One unfortunate individual, whose sight was impeded by a large bashlik over his head, did not doff his head-dress. The Police-master noticed this want of respect, and shouted to a policeman near by to take him off. The unhappy individual, who through the blinding snow and sleet had falled to notice the Imperial cavalcade, and protested to that effect, was nevertheless dragged off to the police station.

Latestinstructions to the dvorniko are that they must not sit at their posts. The streets at night present pictures of groups of big drowsy house-porters nuffied up in their sheepskins, leaning against each gateway, carefully nursing large keys which have turned the locks on the whole town within doors. As each person passes by they rouse themselves, each watching him until he disappears from sight and passes into the jurisdiction of another watchman.

This was followed by the entrance of two men, evidently partially disguised, who on entering locked the door, and, presenting their weapons, told Mouravieff that if he consented to risk ever

PARIS, March 6.—The Hartmann affair and the discussion in the Senate of Jules Ferry's Higher Education bill have kept the hands of the Government pretty full this week. It was for a long time thought to be fully proved by official documents received from Russia that Hartmann was identical with the author of the Moscow attempt. This morning, however, he was set at liberty. His liberation was due to the decision of a council of the Ministers held in the forenoon, and the decision was based on the reports of the legal authorities, who considered the identity and participation not proven. The result gives general satisfaction, and relieves the Ministry from a great responsibility. As soon as the prisoner was at liberty he at once started for Dieppe, and crosses to London this evening.

AT DULUTH, MINN.

Special Dispatch to The Obicago Tribuns.

St. Paul, Minn., March & —The grain elevator of Munger, Markell & Co., burned at Duluth today, was the largest structure of the kind in the northern part of this State. It received wheat from the Northern Pacific and corn from the St. Paul & Sioux City and St. Paul & Duluth Roads for shipment by lake after the opening of navigation. The elevator was built in 1872, and its capacity was 250,000 bushels. When burned it contained 135,000 bushels of corn and 25,000 bushels of corn and 25,000 bushels of wheat,—a total loss. The bulk of the grain was owned by David Dows of New York, R. Barden of St. Paul, and Barnes & Tenny of Duluth. The owners of the building are R. Nininger and Glibert Munger, of St. Paul, and Clinton Markell and R. C. Munger, of Duluth. A dock 125 feet long was attached to the elevator, on which were 7,000 barrels of salt, owned by C. L. Graves & Co., Duluth. These were badly damaged, if not totally destroyed. The Northern Pacific docks and building adjoining escaped without damage.

St. Paul., Minn., March 6.—The grain-elevator of Munger, Markell & Co., Duluth, was burned this afternuon. It cost $50,000 in 1872, and was insured for $20,000. It contained about 170,000 bushels of grain. Insurance on grain about $85,000 - $55,000 on grain owned by Barnes & Finney. The following are the companies interested: Shawmut, Boston; Commercial and German-American, New York; Westchester, New York; New York Insurance Association; Queen of Liverpool; Manhattan, New York; Rhode Island Association; London & Lancashire.

The Fire-Insurance Patrol report of the fire at Ryan's cooper-shop, at the corner of Ashland and Clybourn avenues, places the losses and insurance as follows: The building, owned by L. C. Stebbins and R. C. Mersereau, was insured as follows: Commonwealth, Tradesmen's, Merchants', Shoe & Leather, Lorillard, Irving, Prescott, and Hoffmas, $185 each; Commercial, Lancashire, Scottish Commercial, La Caffiance, Boston Underwriters', German-American, Manufacturers', Penn Fire, and Neptune, $295 each; Fancuil Hall and Hamburg, $821 each; total, $5,000. The loss will be total except upon alcohol still, which was slightly damaged. D. W. Ryan's stock of cooper material was insured for $11,300, placed as follows: Meriden, First National, Enterprise, Franklin, and Hoffman, $1,000 each; Kenton and Milwaukee, $1,100 each; Amazon, $1,400; and German, $900. The loss upon this will be total. The actual loss will be, as stated yesterday, about $20,000. The fire originated in the boller-room of the south wing from unknown causes, and communicated to the east wing, entirely destroying both. AT PETROLIA, PA.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 6.—An explosion in No. 2 shaft, at Nanticoke yesterday, killed James Henry and David T. Watkins. John T. Watkins was scriously injured. The disaster was caused by a miner leaving a door open, thus breaking the air current. The gas accumulated and ignited from a naked light carried by the mine boss. The bottom of the shaft was blown to pieces, and the cars smashed. Three men were killed by concussion and two by concussion and burns. Three miners who attempted to rescue the men were overcome by black-damp, and were saved with great difficulty.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE. MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribuna.

BURLINGTON, Ia., March 6.—A most terrible accident occurred in this city this afternoon, in which six persons had a miraculous escape from what seemed inevitable death. As a carriage containing five ladies was returning from a funeral the horses became frightened and ran, and went off a bridge in the western part of the city into a chasm some forty feet deep, the sides of which are almost perpendicular. The occupants of the vehicle were Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Brand, Mrs. Kline, and Mrs. Trainor and daughter. Mrs. McIntyre sustained some slight injuries about the head, while the other ladies and the driver escaped unharmed. The carriage was wrecked.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribuna.

ALPENA, Mich., March 6.—The propeller Faxton arrived this morning from Bay City. She encountered no ice except in the bay. This is the earliest opening of navigation at this place ever known. The Faxton cleared this forenoon.

A singular story of atrocity comes from Brighton Park, a settlement in the extreme southwestern portion of the city. The story was told by the victim, who appeared in town yesterday, and furnished the evidences of the truthfulness of his remarkable story by exhibiting his injuries. His name is Christian or Charles Meier. About a week ago, he states, he met two men representing themselves as Constable Michael Doran and Peter McGinty, and while in their company got intoxicated in a salcon at the park. The drunken arguments turned upon the political issues of the day. Meier upheld Grant, and the other stuck out firmly for Tilden. Their talk was of the filthiest and most abusive character. Finally Doran and McGinty became offended at something said by Meier, and they undertook to make him recant. Meier says they first procured a rope and strung him up to a rafter in the rear of the salcon, and when he still refused to recant they tore his ciothing off and subjected him to all sorts of indignities, some of which are horrible. Meier's purpose in town yesterday was to swear out warrants for the arrest of the human brutes who so maltreated him. He did so before a West Division Justice, and by the time this is read the men will probably be in custody.

Meier was saved by the salconkeeper, who insisted that they were killing him, and that the joke was being carried too far. The unfortunate fellow was confined to his bed for six days, and was barely able to be about yesterday. The marks of the treatment to which he was subjected were plainly visible about the neck and legs.

With theverception of Guth, this is the same nine the Lake Views had last season. All challenges should be addressed to F.C. Brandecker, No. 648 Sedgwick street.

WRESTLING,

Next Saturday evening, at the West Twelfth street Turner-Hall, there will be a cellar-and-elbow match, best two in three, between Lewis A. Moore and Fred Clark, for a stake of $500, the match to be governed by Ed James' rules. Moore is rapidly acquiring a reputation as an expert wrestler, and, what is still more to his credit, all his matches thus far have been on the square. Clark is regarded by his friends as the equal of any man in this part of the country, and the meeting between the two is looked forward to with great interest by those interested in the sport.

All rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, the Brunswick Billiard-Hall will remain in its present location. All the tables have recently been covered with new cloth, and new balls have been furnished throughout, so that it can be truthfully said that, in respect of the perfection of tools and appliances for a game of billiards, the Brunswick Hall probably has no equal in the world.

OTTAWA, March 6.—The booksellers are not at all satisfied with the present tariff, and a deputation consisting of Messra. W. J. Gage, S. R. Hart, W. Warwick, A. S. Irving, and G. R. Rose, of Toronto; J. Durcand and J. Hope, of Ottawa; J. Momilian, of New Brunswick; and A. Mc-Kinlay, of Nova Scotia, arrived this morning for the purpose of proteeding against its iniquities. The workingmen's meeting at the Market Hall last night was a rough one on the Government. Messra: Currier and Tassis were called upon to explain the beauties of the national policy so far as the workingmen were concerned, but they scarcely attempted it, and denied that they had at the election promised on behalf of the Government plenty of work and good wages. Neither of the city members received much of a hearing, and it is quite evident that they have lost the connidence of the workingmen of the city, who thought so machof them in 1878. Edward Develin, a drover, laid out Mayor Mackintosh in fine style and carried the meeting with him. About 500 persons were present, about 400 being workingmen, the majority of whom are out of employment. One man, who was a strong Terry a couple of years ago, suggested that the unemployed inborers hoot the Ministers as they pass through the streets.

SENATOR CARPENTER made an exhaustive nd eloquent speech in the Senate yesterday a opposition to the bill for the relief of Fitz ohn Porter. With great force and acumen and with an oratorical power worthy of his palmiest days, the Wisconsin Senator showed conclusively that the restoration of Porter ould be unconstitutional, an encroach-tent on the power of the Executive, and, by stting aside the judgment of the Military ourt, an assumption by Congress of judicial unctions. The amendment offered by Sen-or Burnside he characterized as no less ary than the bill which it was ty of Porter the Senator had not large body of the delegates, inst

As Senator Carpenter proceeded he grew more elo-quent, and charged Porter with causing the death of twenty thousand soldiers through his inaction, and challenged the Democratic arty to reward what in Porter might be illed fealty to a chief, but which the Nation called realty to a chief, but which the Nanon had long since concluded to be rank treason. Senator Carpenter's speech cannot fail to have considerable influence on the Senate, and, should they ponder it fittingly, it may cause them to think seriously before they reward a man whom the loyal people of America regard as a traitor.

SECRETARY SCHURZ is happy over what he considers the triumph of his peace policy. The Utes and kindred tribes have signed away their reservations in Colorado, and have taken in lieu thereof lands in Utah and New Mexico. The signatures to the treaty were very reluctantly attached by the Chiefs, who seemed to have considerable doubts as to how the signing away of their reservation will be regarded by the people of the tribes.

THERE died in England a few weeks ago one of the brightest, most sympathetic, and intellectual women of the present century. What Frances Power Cobbe has done in the nterest of her sex, to elevate, to enfranchise, to disenthrall them, has now passed into his-tory. Her articles in the English magazines the London Spectator in behalf of women of England are the most powerful argument in favor of woman's rights ever published. ONCE more it is stated in New York that lilden will be a candidate for the Presidendal nomination at the Cincinnati Convention With the power which his great riches, hi agers and wire-pullers can give him, he will be a powerful antagonist to any other Democrat seeking the nomination. He will try to make it understood that Kelly and Church and his other political enemies in the Empire State cannot hold back any Democratic votes from him in a Presidential election. Any successful rival at Cincinnati cannot expect many favors from the ancient party of Gramercy Park; and, on the whole, the Democrats are lost in the wilderness of doubt, and no political Moses has yet appeared to lead them therefrom.

MR. WASHBURNE AND THE PRESIDENCY. The following letter of the Hon. E. B. Washburne to James Hallett, Esq., written everal weeks ago, has just been made public CHICAGO, Feb. 13, 1890.—James Hallett, Esq. Mr DEAR SIR: I have just seen in the papers statement that my old friends in Mount Carrepropose holding a meeting to-morrow night organize a club to advance my candidacy for the Presidency. If such be the fact, it is a compliment which I profoundly appreciate, and has a double value as combine from my old con residency. If such be the fact, it is a comresidency. If such be the fact, it is a comiment which I profoundly appreciate, and it as a double value as coming from my old contituents and friends, who, for nine successive lections, supported me for Congress with a zeal and devotion which has challenged my deepest ratitude. I must, however, through you, beg of them to desist from any such action. I can, under no circumstances or conditions, become s candidate for President. Gen. Grant is my first last, and only choice. Thanking my friends for their proposed manifestation of kindness an good will, I am, very truly, your obedient serv ant,

The above is a reiteration in writing what Mr. Washburne has frequently d clared verbally, and simply amounts to this; (1) He wants Grant nominated. (2) He will not, under any circumstances, be a candidate against him.

against him.

But suppose Gen, Grant is not a candidate, or shall before the Chicago Convention, or during that Convention, withdraw his name; in that case Mr. Washburne is as free to support any other candidate, and as free to be-come a candidate himself, as is any other citizen of the Republic. The effort making to represent him as refusing the nomination, or refusing the use of his name in the Convention as a candidate for the nomination in case Gen. Grant shall have withdrawn or otherwise ceased to be a candidate, is a gross in justice to Mr. Washburne, and is wholly un warranted by the facts.

The attempt to put him in this false pos tion is doing an injustice to the friends of Gen. Grant, the majority of whom, in case Grant be no longer a candidate, will un-doubtedly prefer Washburne to any of the other gentlemen who have been named. We have no question that Gen. Grant himself, should he cease to be a candidate, will greatly rejoice if the Convention shall nominate his old friend and supporter Washburne. To represent that Mr. Washburne will not permit his name to be used in the Conven tion, in case that of Gen. Grant is withdrawn is to represent that his friendship and his ad-miration for Grant will be transferred to Blaine, or Conkling, or Sherman, or Ed-munds. That this is not true is shown by is letter, in which he declares that he "for Grant first, last, and all the time." But Grant no longer a candidate will so change the situation of affairs that Mr. Washburne will not be at liberty to refuse the full pe mission for the use of his name in the Con permit his name to be used in the Conven-tion as a candidate. When he returns to this country from Mexico and discovers that among the Republicans of several States there is such an overwhelming objection to a third term for any man that whole delegations have been elected directly by the people to vote against a third term; that in the great Republican State of Pennsylvania a large body of the delegates instructed to oppose a third term have been, by the skillful manipulations of the "machine" commended pose a third term navine," commanded manipulations of the "machine," commanded to vote for him; and that in New York a to vote for him; and that in New York a their constituents to vote against a third term, have been ordered by a bare majority of a State Convention to vote for him, he will, in all probab lilty, with his strong good sense, discover that the so-called Grant delegates from those States do not represent the popular sentiment with that unanimity with-out which the nomination would not be honorable to himself to accept or expedient for the party to make. When Gen. Grant returns and be quainted with this deep-rooted and wide-spread hostility to a Presidential third term, and the means by which whole delegations have been coerced to vote for him, it is more than probable he will decline a candidacy which lacks that popular support which alone could induce him to be a candidate for a third

Under these circumstances, should he refuse the further use of his name as a candidate, it would be absurd to say that Mr. Washburne, like all other persons, will not be released from the support of Gen. Grant, and free to make another choice. In that event, if any of the delegates in the Convention should prefer, after Grant's withdrawal, or after any other person, Mr. Washburne as their choice for the population he will of course be as free to accept their support and Grant had never been named for a third term

OPENING OF NAVIGATION. It was reported yesterday that the Straits of Mackinaw are open. There is little doubt that vessels could pass through, as they might have done several times this winter. It is also probable that the season of naviga tion will open earlier this year than usual. But it can scarcely be said to be opened yet for the grain trade, though the breaking up of ice in the Straits has been the prac tical opening of the season in past years scarcely be open before the end of this month, so that grain leaving this city now for the seaboard would there under the ordinary charter by which vessels discharge cargo immediately on arrival. It is thought by vesselmen that, with a continuance of fine weather, the first clearances of grain from this port will be made about the 20th inst., and the insurance agents will scarcely care to assume

The 20th of March is, however, about thirty-nine days earlier than the average date at which the Straits of Mackingw are open. The resumption of water communica tion with the East would, therefore, lengthe the season by two-elevenths, or nearly 18 per cent. The effect of this upon the forward movement of breadstuffs can scarcely be estimated now; but there is no reason to doubt that it will be a most important boon to the railroad-monopoly-ridden people of the West. There is already about 2,300,000 bushels of grain affoat in our harbor, ready to move, and this quantity may be materially increased before the end of the next fortnight by the loading of vessels already here, and of some that may arrive. Our total shipments of breadstuffs by lake last year were 63,796,288 bushels, and the same ratio would give 11,500,000 bushels. more this year on account of the greater length of the season. The augment may really be reckoned on as likely to be more than that, as more grain is ready to mov than was the case ten months ago. This increase is very much greater than our excess of grain in store; we have only about three and a half millions more now than twelve nonths since, and there is not now any prosect of a very big increase in the quantity of grain to come here as compared with 1879. The early opening of navigation will, therefore, give the railroads less to say in the fixtheir combinations may be strong enough to prevent the demoralization of last June, when corn was carried at 71% cents from Chi-care to the seaboard.

There is another point which ought not o be lost sight of. Our grain is wanted in Western Europe, to say nothing of the wants of New England: and the experience of our merchants with railroads this winter has repened their eyes. It now seems probable that he carrying facilities of the lake will be taxed to the utmost in the determination to avoid the railroad lash next winter as much as possible. If this be the case the chances are that the railroads will not soon again be able to pursue the cutthroat policy which has ducer during the past four months.

WILL SHERMAN WITHDRAW! Late dispatches from Washington report that the friends of Secretary Sherman have been holding consultations relative to that gentleman's withdrawal from the Presidential contest. There are reasons for regarding this statement as preparatory to Mr. Sherman's formal renouncement of his candidacy. Secretary Sherman has not made so much headway in his canvass as to be encouraged to continue. He is in no sense a dark horse." He came upon the course early in the day. He declared his ambition and went actively to work. He promised that he would not use his connection with the present Administration and his official patronage to advance his interests, but the temptation proved too strong for him, and there quickly came announcements of removals and appointments that denoted a manipulation of Government favors in Sherman's interests. The indications of late have been that Secretary Sherman has made more enemies than friends by resorting to such questionable expedients The remarkable nomination and subsequent withdrawal of Pinchback as Naval Officer at New Orleans are still shrouded in mystery; but, whatever the extent of Mr. Sherman's connection therewith may be, the confusion will probably cost him the votes of Louisiana in the Convention. In other Southern States, where Treasury agents have been actively at work in shaping rotten-borough delegations to the Chicago Convention, they have encountered serious opposition, and their movements have invariably occasioned unfavorable comment at the North. The Sherman meetings in Ohio have been "stale, flat, and unprofitable," and the prospect of a divided delegation in his own State has been particularly discouraging. It is not strange, therefore, that Sherman's friends should prepare the way for his withgrawal. It may be accepted as pretty certain that Secretary Sherman will withdraw from the race just as soon as he shall become fairly convinced that certain defeat awaits him, of which nearly all his friends are already convinced. He will not care to incur the humiliation of a hopeless struggle, but will prefer to place himself upon a good footing with the party at large and the successful candidat before the Convention. As a politician, Mr. Sherman will perceive the futility of further effort long before the meeting of the Convention, and also find some pretext for retiring from the contest. In such case where will the Sherman men go? This is the question that will take a conspicuous place in the Presidential battle before long. It is a question which Secretary Sherman himself may not be able to answer very well. His friends are a rule transfer. friends, as a rule, are not so strongly attached to him as to come and go at his bidding, and he himself, once out of the race, may not be disposed to do any jockeying. It may be expected, however, that, when Sherforward. And if Mr. Washburne was in a position to accept their support, the bulk of fer their votes to him, as he is strong in Ohio as well as in Indiana with the element that constitutes the balance of power in both those States, as well as in several others, including Illinois. Wisconsin, and New York.

FIFTY YEARS OF LABOR STRIKES. The Hon. Carroll D. Wright, Chief of the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics, has just laid before the Legislature of that State hi annual report, brought down to Nov. 1, 1879. It is a document replete with valuable infor-mation. The volume opens with a history of strikes in Massachusetts from 1880 to 1880, and this history, giving the causes, the ex-tent, and the results of all these strikes, is of great interest. The whole number of strikes and lock-outs included in the record is 159. This does not include mere demands made y contending parties which were not serinough to produce a strike. The causes of these strikes were:

In the history of the various strikes in fassachusetts that at the mills of the Salisbury corporation in 1852 is reported as re narkable because of the slight cause, the class of persons engaged in it, and the serious results. The employés at the mills were all Americans, all members of families long resident in the town. The rules of the nills had never been strict. Nominally the nills opened at 5 a. m. and closed at 7 p. m. with rests of half an hour for breakfast and one hour for dinner. It was the custom, however, to give the operatives fifteen min-utes each half-day for lunch. This had been the custom for thirty years. This privilege for lunch was greatly abused. Men would go out of the mills in the forenoon on private business, and frequently the fifteen minutes' absence was extended to an hour. In April, 1853, the agent of the mill resigned, and a new agent took charge, and e, on May 31, gave notice that this lunchtime, or privilege, would be abolished, the new rule to take effect the next day. The next day one hundred men left the mills at the usual lunch-time, and, on their return, were scharged. The village was greatly excited The whole population had grown up with the mills, and they all sided with the operatives. Public meetings were held and speeches made. A committee was appointed to ask of the Directors a restoration of the luncheon privilege. The Directors refused to inter re. The female operatives struck work The poet Whittier, who then resided near the mills, prepared the series of resolu tions which were adopted remonstrating ime-honored privilege. The corporation, lowever, refused to yield. To add to the citement the flannel mills at Amesbury, neighboring village, at this time also abol-ished the luncheon privilege. The original trivial disagreement rapidly grew into oper war between the villagers and the mill-own ers. The mills after a while resumed wor with foreign help. The opposition so seriously interfered with their business that for many years they suffered financial embarrass ts. Finally, not one person of the original pative population was connected with the mills; they had all removed elsewhere to obtain work, and the industrial population of

This report contains a history of famous struggle of the "Crispins" for the mastery and control of the shoe manufactures of the State, and also of the several serious strikes at the textile mills at Fall River. From the review of the entire fifty years' history of strikes, the first and most byious conclusion is, that "Strikes generally rove powerless to benefit the condition of the wage-class." The strikes have been so uniformly unsuccessful that the strikers have been left "in exactly the same position, so far as concerned the point at issue, that they occupied at the beginning." This result is about the same as in England. Another result stated is, that "Strikes tend to deprive the strikers of work." The strikes of the Crispin organization caused the manufacturers to remove their business to other towns, and some to leave the State. The strike at North Adams in 1871 directly caused the introduction of Chinese labor, to the permanent displacement of white workmen. Another result has been the gradual substitution of other methods for mule-spinning in cotton factories. Mr. Wright explains this by saying:

The mule-spinner, to a certain extent, now holds the key to the situation. If successful, he often has it in his power to stop the mill. And it is noticeable that the chief strikes in the textile trades have arisen among the spinners. But the mule is gradually disappearing, the number in our largest factories being 45 per cent less than in 1864.

To this may be added the successful invention known as the "Clements Attachment, -a simple machine which takes the cotton in the seed, gins it, and spins it into slivers, and even into yarn, and does this on the cottonfield. The manufacturers can hereafter obtain their cotton in the shape of yarn at a cost but little exceeding the cost of baled cotton, thus enabling them to dispense with spinning altogether.

Another conclusion drawn from this history of the strikes is, that they "lead to improvidence, and are demoralizing in their effect upon the workingman." In the various Fall River strikes the enormous sum of $1,400,000 in wages was voluntarily forfeited by the idleness of the operatives. This does not include the large sums contributed by sympathizers in other cities. The whole was wasted, for no permanent advantage was secured. Loss in wages without any material benefit accruing to offset it is the rule. The same sum of money applied to well-directed projects of self-help might have accom-plished much. The spinners alone in the Fall River strike of 1879 deprived themselves of a sum sufficient to have established four cooperative provision stores, each with an inlost by the operatives at Fall River during 1870 would have erected a mill of 25,000 spindles, equipped it with the necessary machinery, and given it a sufficient working capital. The report gives several estimates as to how long a striker, if successful, must work at the advanced wages to recover the sums lost while vanced wages to recover the sums lost while idle. The report says:

Suppose he strikes for 5 per cent increase. Assuming the weekly wage to be 2 per cent of that of a working year, it will take him one and three-fifths years to make up for one month's wages lost; three and one-fifth years for two months' lost; four and four-fifths years for three months' lost; and so on. Let us apply such a calculation to the Fall River "wacation" of 1873. This was against 10 per cent reduction, and the operatives lost eight weeks' wages. Had the result been in their favor it would have taken each employe one and six-tenths years, at the desired rate, to recover this loss. The long strike of 1879 was for an increase of 15 per cent. Had it been successful at the end of fifteen weeks, every spinner would have been obliged to labor two full years before recovering the amount he had lost by his idleness. Can any one discover that, under the most favorable circumstances, this waste is compensated for by any advantage gained? This is an aspect of the strike question that may well afford food for thought to the workingman who really wishes to better his condition. Here figures and facts cannot be blotted out.

The effect of strikes upon the manufact-The effect of strikes upon the manufacttimes it is a positive advantage to be able to close the mill or the workshop. The intelligent workman must understand that any policy that cripples the employer must react upon himself. The rate of wages is someimes beyond the employer's control. We have before referred the absence of the conciliatory spirit in Fa River; and it is pleasant, on the other hand, note that wherever it is present in greater cless degree comparative harmony ensue There are factories in the State in which strike are unknown, and where the condition of the employees is made an object of care on the party of the employers.

THE POPE ON DIVORCE, The reigning Pope's encyclical on marriage and divorce has evidently been prompted by the same motives which led his prede to resist to the utmost of his power the ininto the Papal dominions. No one with due regard to the sanctity of the marriage-tie will controvert the Pope's generalizations about the high moral and social duties which that contract imposes. But when the Pope declares at this time that the rights and obligations of marriage depend upon a religious ceremony entirely independent of the civil contract, and that "No power can dissolve among Christians a ratified and consummated marriage," the position is in conflict with the best interests of society, and is dictated by the selfish desire to maintain the old-time, arrogant, and uncom promising supremacy of the priesthood, of which the Pope is the head. The encyclical on this subject has been called out by the agitation now in progress in France, a Catholic country, for the recognition of divorce for good and sufficient cause, and the right to remarry. This change in the law is advocated by many of the leading press, statesmen, and writers, but it is opposed by the priests as cal-culated to weaken their influence, and the Pope comes to the aid of the Church party with the prestige of his position and authority. The institution of marriage must be preserved as a sacrament for the greater glory and profit of the Church. Recognition of divorce by civil courts would take away from the Church one of its greatest powers and perquisits, and hence must be resisted. The Papal dictum will undoubtedly carry with it considerable weight in France, where the Church retains so strong a hold upon the masses; but the arguments used by the Pope will not stand the test of intellectual analysis. It is no more true that the advocates of divorce in France "desire to expel God and the Church from human society" than it would be to say that every man and woman who favor civil annulment of the marriage-contract for certain causes are governed by the desire to avail them selves personally of such a privilege. Under the laws of the Church and France, a man is bound for life to a woman who may turn prostitute after marriage, and a woman cannot escape the adulterer or felon when the Church has once separation is allowed under certain conditions; but the innocent wife or the innocent husband, as the case may be, is forever de barred from forming new marital associations, and forced either to live alone or to form relations which both Church and State condemn as immoral. It is this alternative, involving a penalty for innocence and a temptation to vice, which the Pope would enforce in order that the Church may lose nothing of its present influence.

"Conjugal bonds lose all stability," savs the encyclical, if divorce be recognized. This is gross exaggeration. Divorce is not contemplated in any civilized country except for causes that render life in common unendurable; if abused at times, it is only such abuse as all human laws are subject to, and the remedy is in large part in the hands of the Church through the influence which it may exert in the improvement of public morals and the framing and execution of the laws On the other hand, the privilege of divorce undoubtedly exercises a certain restraint rard the duties of married life, and influences them to avoid giving just offense. "Mutual affection is impaired" by divorce, says the Pope. This cannot be true, since affection is not a matter of compulsion, and cannot be controlled by the laws of either the State or the Church; on the contrary, mutual affection is more likely to be encouraged by the knowledge that a flagrant disregard thereof may be exposed, and the offended party may awfully seek redress and consolation else-

"Infidelity is strongly encouraged," the Pope insists, where divorce is possible. Not so, because infidelity may be followed by punishment in the allowance of alimony, in the public scandal of divorce proceedings. and in separation from children. Infidelity is certainly much more encouraged under a ondition of things where an outraged husband or an injured wife has no means of re dress and no hope of release.

"The care and education of children are imperiled," not so much by a legal divorce which commits the children to the care of a pure and innocent parent, as by the absence of divorce, which makes the offspring subject to the meretricious influences of an unhappy home and the example and authority of a debauched and degraded parent. "The dissolution of human society" is not so much to be feared from a rational and fair system of divorcement as from a system of ndissoluble marriage which virtually condones infidelity and attaches no adequate penalty to violations of the marriage-conract. A comparison of French and American morals will justify this statement. The Pope ascribes the widespread French gitation for a divorce law for good cause to he Communists. There is less of the vicious dements of Communism in this country than in France, though the average American facility for divorcement is too broad, while there is none whatever in France. The practical Communists and Socialists care nothing for either marriage or divorce; they would reak down both Church and Stat defy and mock at marriage beyond a temporary convenience and mutual agreement, who know that offenses against the sanctity of marriage are rarely, if ever, punished in countries where divorce is not permitted, do not trouble themselves to ask for a privilege which they exercise without legal or churchy authority. It is not those who are culty, or would be guilty, of infidelity who need the protection and redress of divorce, but those who are innocent and would re-main innocent before man and God. The Pope innocent be oppressed, the virtuous tempted, and the wronged outraged and cut off there

No one of ordinary sensibility can have read in THE TRIBUNE of yesterday the accoun of the crueities to animals practiced at the Stock-Yards without feeling at the very sug-gestion a cordial hatred of the entire class engaged in them, but a special and active ani-mosity against the man who, as State Agent, has tolerated them. It is needless to recount the horrors of torturing the dumb and helpless beasts beyond the necessities of the slaughter-pens. The point in the case is that Gov. Cullom names and the State supports a man for the express purpose of protecting the animals against the unn of the butchery, and that this person has been in the habit of drawing his pay and closing his eyes to the fiendish practices that have become habitual. In a single day THE TRIBUNE'S reporter saw enough horrors to sicken the heart of the most obdurate man, and to fill three columns with an account thereof; yet this State Agent has not reported a single case of cruelty for prosecution under the law, nor would he have done so during his and Gov. Cullom's term of office had it not been for THE TRIBUNE'S exposure. should have no further opportunity for neglecting his duty, but be summarily dismissed for an indifference which is disgrace-ful to himself and to the Administration which he represents. The animals have suffered more, as a matter of fact, by reason of the existence of such a State Agent than if there had been no such person; for, had it not been supposed that the slaughter-houses were carefully watched, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals would have exercised vigilance of its own. Cruelty is a vice that grows by what it feeds on, from practical butchers; but a man who is paid and supported to be humane ought cer-tainly to afford the indeligence of an occasional protest against excessive and needless

THERE has been a serio-comic controvers; There has been a serio-comic controversy between the Chicago Street Commissioner and the Horso-Railway Presidents. The railway people are in the habit of hoeing and machine-scraping the mud off their tracks upon the street outside thereof, and the Street Commissioner insists that they shall shovel it into carts, asul it away, and dump it somewhere else. The railway folks refuse pointblank, saying that it is not their dirt; that their cars don't bring a shovelful of it on the tracks; that it is all brought on by the miscellaneous vehicles which use their tracks. This is undoubtedly true. If the Street Commissioner, the Mayor, or Alderuse their tracks. This is undoubtedly true. If

NEW YOHK, March 5.—The seeds of bitterness sown by the Utics [packed] Convention among the Brooklyn Republicans are springing up. If the Fourth Ward Association last night a resolution opposing the nomination of Grant was carried by a considerable majority, and much hostile feeling was shown.

On motion of William A. Linn, one of the editors of the Evening Post, the following resolution was unanimously adopted by the Republicans of Bergen County, N. J.:

Resolved, That inasmuch as the united vote of the party is necessary to its success in November, we deem it inadvisable that Gen. Grant should receive the nomination for President from the Republican National Convention that the delegates elected here shall oppose, all Twenton, the choice of any delegate to Chapsubo Javora Gen. WATTERSON, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, has matters figured down to a fine point as to the Democratic party in its entry on the Presidential canvass. He says, editorially:

That single exception is the candidate named by Tilden. It is our fixed opinion that we cannot maintain a ticket in the field six weeks unless it be headed or heartily supported by Mr. Tilden.

We suppose the candidate the old Usufruct would name is one Samuel J. Tilden. In that case it is our solemn opinion that Gen. Senator George F. Edmunds was, as a youth, fond of the society of those much older than himself. It is said that he much enjoyed calling upon the old ladies of his native Village of Richmond. "Uncle," "Aunt," or "Grandmother" was applied by him to many outside his own kindred. Never during all the years since the young lawyer left the town for his arger career has interest in his progress flagged i whit. The Senator goes back to fish in the familiar trout-streams with schoolmates who have grown gray-headed, welcomes the villagers as heartily in Washington as he meets them at home, and never falls during any visit to call on "Aunt Phoebe" and other venerable and loyal friends and cronies.

es not feel flattered it is no fault of those who re instrumental in inaugurating it and bring-rit to a successful issue. Men with big shovels, hoes, and picks began to beg away at the six inches of mud. Soon at once dedicated to Carter H. Harrison and the Democratic Administration. There soon arose piles and piles of mud, tapered off with decayed birds, and others with horse manure, all gathered from the street which has so long been neglected. At 4 o'clock, as if by a concerted movement, there appeared on these piles mettoes, versicles, epigrams, etc., they being painted on boards and put in place almost simultaneously. The sight was grotesque in the extreme. The street was filled with crowds of people, who came to see the show. Such laughter was never heard before at Democratic expense. THE FUNNIEST FRATURES.

An immense pile of mud, crowned with decaying vegetables and horse manure, bore the following touching epitaph: "Mayor Harrison dead and buried here." "Keep off the grass; do not pluck the flowers." Then there were other mottoes like these:

"May the mud be thin When we vote again."

"Our Mayor's Platform"; "Here Lies the Bagle"; "Harrison's Mound"; "Root Hog or Die"; "The Hog Died, He Couldn't Root Here and Live. The Filth Was Too Much for Him"; "Sagle Feathers under Here"; "Who Would Not Vote for Carter Harrison' Erected A. D. 1880." Two Joint piles of mud bore the legend of,"Harrison's Arch." There was "Harrison's Governor, Carter Harrison." "Our Next Governor, Carter Harrison,"

Perhaps as witty a thing was "Harrison's Grave." It was a pile of mud near State street, shaped to represent a grave. At the head was a cabbage, topped by an old feit hat. The centre was garnished with sweet potaces and radishes,—the flowers over the grave. At the foot was a large beet raised on a stick, and inserted in it alboard, with the word "Dead" on it. Then there was an old pair of boots left sticking out of the mud, and the carlicature was complete. The epitaph over it read: "The last of our best Mayor: weep." Then there was also on admonition to "Carter to read and reflect." "Our little wish Harrison grant us—to see that our streets are kept clean." "Carter wants it so," embellished a very odorifarous pile. "The City-shaped mud, crowned by a stinking codish, and duly placariled on a long pole. This was in front of G. W. Webster's place. Mr. Webster is a wholessie liquor-dealer, and a Democrat. He couldn't stand this onslaught on his friend Carter, and he

STARTED TO TEAR DOWN "CITY-HALL."
His action caused merriment and derision. The old man became excited and a crowd collected. They hooted and yelled. Every time Webster took down a motto two of them rose in its place, and then the old man was mad—mad as a March hare. He pranced and pranced around, and finally acknowledged himself beaten by treating the crowd. While he amused himself, the crowd would shout "He's drunk;" "that's right, stick up for a whisky Mayor." "Shut him up and bury him."

About this time a rather talkative youth, with a shadow of a mustache on his upper lip, which he was carefully nursing, hove in sight, enveloped in a blue necktie, which threw a shadow over his entire exterior, and clad in very light clothes and a high tile. This young man began to fight for Carter verbally, and threatened to clean out South Water street, and the whole of Chicago if necessary. His gab brought him into sudden unpopularity, and he vanished from sight amid jeers, yells, and cat-calls. Some one suggested that he be covered up in the mud, but his form had vanished.

Other incidents occurred of a trifling character. Mr. Webster once more got angry, and began taking down the signs from the fundpiles, but he found the work too hard, and finally desisted amid jeers and shouts, and a vote that he was a busybody by the crowd. There were mottoes such as these: "Poll-Tax Paid." "Hurrah for Mayor Harrison." "The Eagle Must Be Protected." "Our Next Governor—All Eagle." "The Old Way Is the Best." "Members of the Common Council Please Remove This Pile within the Next Four Months." "Cholera, Measles, Vomiting, Quickstep," appropriately headed a fearfully filthy pile. Then there were: "No More STARTED TO TEAR DOWN "CITY-HALL."

"Members of the Common Council Please Remove This Pile within the Next Four Months."

"Cholera, Measles, Vomiting, Quickstep," appropriately headed a fearfully filty pile. Then there were: "No More Appropriations Nécessary." "Retrench." "More Serip, Carter." "Last, but Not Least, Our Carter." "Gents: If that Is Your Game, I Will Run Again. Eagle Harrison." "The Best Chicago Our Mayor Ever Had." "Results of Democratio Mayor." "In Memory of C. H. Harrison." "Peace to Carter's Ashes. "Carter Is Not Dead, but Sleepeth; Our Mayor Rests in Peace." "Carter H., Born in 1878, Died in 1880:

"Hurrah for Harrison and the City Council!" "Get your City-Scrip at My Office To-Night. Carter." "Our Carter Forever." "Every Man Draws His Own Dirt. Mayor Harrison." "We Will Bend Harrison to the Pound for His Good Deeds." "A Rose by Any Other Name Would Smeil Just as Swet."

A mammoth pile, pyramid-shaped, was headed with "Headquarters of the Common Council of the City of Chicago." Then again there was "The Eagle's Nest." "Who Pays for This?" "Accidents Will Happen Now and Then; Here Lies an Honest Commission Man." At the corner of Clark and Water streets was something which attracted a great deal of attention. It was an exquisitly filthy pile of mud in the shape of a cone. On a board on top of it was impaled an old and odorous gander, as touch as an ordinary Democrat's conscience on election-day. The head was gone and the feathers plucked off. Where once was the tail there were placed a few straggling turkey feathers, and a duck's head tied with a string adorned the neck. This was labeled:

"My Eagle. C. H. H." Underneath were the words:

"Twas Not Always Thus." "No Election For Mayor This Spring."

"My Ragie. C. H. H. Underteash words:
"Twas Not Always Thus." "No Election For Mayor This Spring."
The above included about all the mottoes exhibited. However, after Webster's exhibition, "The City-Hall" was adorned with a banner bearing this inscription: "Webster for Mayor Next Teru," but this did not appease his wrath. There is a moral in this exhibition, which may have some effect. The streets of Chicago are a diagrace to a civilized community, and they cannot be cleaned too soon to please the people.

JOHN GARRITY.

An Attempt to Get Him Out on What Seems Very Shaky Ball.

Hugh Garrity, the Penitentiary graduate and thug, who is wanted on three serious charges, has so far succeeded in evading the Sheriff's Deputies, although some of his friends have signified that Hugh is only trying to get ball, and will give himself up just as soon as he can procure it. Meantime John Garrity, his brother by birth and in crime. languishes in Currier's Bastile. Yesterday a scratch attempt was made to get John out on what may by courtesy be considered ball, but which ball is about as worthless as that which outside State's Attoheys have occasionally accepted. At Geneva the bondsmen accepted were old man Garrity, father of the sweet-scented palr, Martin Joyce, and Mike Corcoran.

O'Neill swore that he was the owner of Lot 6 in Block 6 of Stone's Subdivision of Astor's Addition, being No. 246 Goethe street, which property was worth $3,500 and incumbered for $250 only, leaving him worth $3,250. The Court was not in session and no other bondsman was presented, so O'Neill went away, leaving the bond with the Clerk. The latter has it yet, and may be this is not the end. A reporter of THE TRIBUNE who felt skeptica about bonds in general, and bonds designed to release the Garritys from captivity in particu-lar, visited the Recorder's office yesterday after-noon and

So many of our Chicago patrons have been engaged in silver-mining in the region of Leadville, in the State of Colorado, with such good success during the past year, that we take pleasure in bringing to the notice of the public the formation of "The Chicago and Scott Guich Gold and Silver Mining Company," a corporation just organized by some of our enterprising business-men. The Company has two lodes or claims on the east slope of Hoosier Pass, in what is known as Scott Guich, three miles north of Alma, in Park County, Colorado.

They embrace some twenty acres of land, with plenty of good timber growing upon it. The ore is sead-carbonate, lying in a compact vein something over five feet in thickness, eropping out for 60 feet on the side of the Guich, about one-halt mile below the timber-line, and running horizontally into the mountain side.

Mr. Stephena, the well-known geologist and practical miner, well known as the partner of Mr. L. Z. Leiter in his Leadville mines, gives his opinion that the camp where this Company's mines are located will develop the richest carbonate silver mines in the whole State of Colorado.

Alma is an old mining town on the Platte River at the foot of Mount Lincoln, accessible at all seasons of the year, being on this side of the snowy range of the Recky Mountains. Supplies can be had here of all kinds, and at about the same prices as in Chicago. The mines are considered valuable by reason of their favorable location, as work can be on the full width of the vein 600 feet, and, as no shafts are neceled, the expense and delay of sinking and hoisting are dipensed with.

A good road is near at hand, and it is but two miles to Dudley down the Guich, where there is a very extensive smelting furnace, and a mile beyond is Alma, where there are five furnaces, and others in process of building.

The ore at present working is fully as good and of the same quality as was the ore of the Leadville mines, which is on the same carbonate belt, and but eight miles, which is on the same carbonate belt,

AMERICAN WATCHES.

The American Watch Company, of Waltham, received last week an order from the British Government for 372 watches, intended for the use of conductors, station-masters, and other employes of the State railroads of India. This is the third large order received by the Company from the same source, and, like the former ones, was obtained in public competition with foreign manufacturers. The London Jeweler and Metal-Worker, in its issue of Jan. 15, observes, in reference to this order: "The contract for watches to be used by the officials on the Indian State railways has again been secured by the American Watch Company. This is the third the American Watch Company. This is the third time Messrs. Robbins & Appleton have received this distinction, which is not a barren one, for it must be evident to the most prejudiced individuals that the timekeepers supplied on the previous occasions must have given satisfaction and answered the tests required of them. This is a mortifying fact for Englishmen, especially for those who believe that, were manufacturers here to show more enterprise, they would be able to compete advantageously in the manufacture of all grades of watches."—Boston Advertiser.

MARINE INSURANCE.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribuna.

MILWAUKEE, March 6.—An important meeting MILWAUKEE, March 6.—An important meeting of the prepresentatives of marine-insurance companies has been called to be held in Buffalo on Tuesday and Wednesday next. Concerning the object of this meeting but little has transpired. Yet it is surmised here that an effort will be made to fix a uniform card-rate on cargoes for the season of 1880, upon the customary sliding scale. A minimum, or bottom, hull-rate will most likely also be agreed upon. The question of insuring vessels and cargoes on and after the 18th of March will come up too, and insurance men here express the opinion that risks based upon a rate of 4 per cent premium for hulls will be permitted to go into effect as early as the 18th inst. From the surmises embraced above, it will readily be perceived that the meeting promises to be one of mighty importance to shippers, vessel-owners, and insurance agents alike.

C. P. COGGESHALL.

The lovers of art will now have their opportunity. The old proverb, "He that lives by the sword falls by the sword," too often proves true. For years past Coggestall, a successful dealer in every branch of the fine arts, and always a leading buyer at all sacrifice sales, now comes to the ing buyer at all sacrifice sales, now comes to the front the victim. Retiring from the retail busirest, he has resolved to close out his stock, and Col. Elison's orders are, "Scil." Intending no reflection on Mr. Coggeshall's financial condition, which, so far as we learn, is unchanged, yet we know a sacrifice very unusual must here ensue. The collection contains many rare gems, and the result of ten years' work in gathering.

cures the Best Mines,

The New and Recent Discoveries in

At the Sherman House there is at present quartered Mr. C. H. Hook, of Hot Sulphur Springs, Middle Park, Colorado. Mr. Hook is an old miner, and has resided some sixteen years in that State, and owns the stage-line between Georgetown and Hot Sulphur Springs. A Tarnurs reporter had a brief talk with him yesterday as to Colorado and its prospects. Among other, things he said: "I am glad to see that the Utes have partially consented to give up their reservation. You may make up see that the Utes have partially consented to give up their reservation. You may make up your mind that the Utes must go, as the rich discoveries now made in our State must, of their natural attractiveness in point of wealth, draw a large and enterprising white population to our State, and drive out the good-for-nothing and ungrice area.

"How about your section in point of mineral wealth?"

"Well, the best we have is in the Rabbit-Ear Range, about fitteen miles west of Grand Lake. In the County of Grand. I think that the best discovery that has been made yet for richness in quantity and quality is the Grand Lake Mine, which is a chloride and sulphuret ore. This mine for five years lay neglected though miners passed by and over it in their prospecting tours, and none of them interested themselves until recently, when it came into the bands of the Chicago & Middle Park Mining Company. This concern, composed entirely of Chicago sentlemen, made a thorough test of its ore and found something remarkable in it. The mine at once showed its undisputed richness. There are at least 1,500 tons of ore in sight, which will average at the lowest estimate no less than 350 ounces to the ton, which will more than pay for the working of the ore. When I speak of the ore in sight I mean the sotual measurement from tunnel to snaft, and the shaft is only down twenty feet at present: and a tunnel run down from the hill on the weln shows the same character of ore, except that the ore grows richer as the tunnel proceeds, and would give an addition of several thousand tons to that already actually in sight. And, from every indication, old miners assert that it is a true fastire vein and that the ore is inexhaustible."

"Who struck this bonanza?"

"It was discovered by Jack Baker, an old miner, who also discovered the Baker Mine, which has yielded immensely. He located twelve mines about the same time in the same locality, the best of which are the Bank of England, Denver Mint, and some nine of the series of the Sherman House; Mr. Henry Morgan, Mr. Joseph H. Dixon, Mr. J. M. Scott, Col. William H. Thompson, Mr. L. H. Clark, Chief Engineer Michigan Southern Railway: Capt. W. J. McGarigle, Mr. J. G. Lansing, Mr. George A. Hook, Mr. H. J. Barker, and Mr. M. A. Deckar. I have located twelve mines about the same nine rich ere with which they will bring forth. And I want to say only Chicago enterprise in this section of the country."

"Who else are interested?"

"Assistant State's-Attorney Weber, J. H. B. Daley, Ald. Jonas, Mr. Hamburger of Quincy, and several other Quincy gentlemen, have secured from Messrs. Stokes and Waldron, of Grand County, the Wolverine, Slient Friend, Manxman, Jim Bowen, and other mines, all of which will be developed the coming year. All these are valuable properties, and will satisfy the gentlement for their investment. I believe now that there are very few discoveries made yet of the valuable mines in this section of country. The Town of Tyner is situated on the same mineral belt, and within two miles of these mines, where they are now putting up reduction works."

NEW YORK, March 6.—Miss Louisiana St. John, who has been proved heiress to a large portion of the ground upon which East St. Louis was built, when necessary to cast about for the means of livelihood, conceived the plan of leasing a large tenement, and by gib-letting secure a margin for herself. The plan succeeded so well that she enlarged her operations, and was soon possessed of a very comfortable capital for investment. She bought lots and dwellings sold for taxes at low rates, and was soon in a whirppool of speculation, her payments crowding her receipts to an extent that almost drove her wild. She was always going to emerge into daylight, but never did.

The Convention of the Socialists to nominate Aldermen and town officers for the approaching city election met last evening in Meridian Hall. No. 92 Randolph street. It was 9 o'clock before the delegates were called to order by T. J. Morgan. Several names were suggested as Chairman, all of whom declined, but A. R. Parsons was finally chosen, and accepted the position. Frank Bielfeldt was elected Vice-President and August Spies Secretary. A gentleman named Healey made a long speech in favor of the Eight-Hour law. He claimed to be a delegate from the Right-Hour League of this city, and wanted the assistance of the Socialists to help them in ameliorating the rights of the workingmen by the enforcement of the law. The platform of the League was read by Morgan. It was a lengthy document, and contianed nothing but what is usually found in such papers. At the close Mr. Healey advocated the adoption of the platform, but nothing was done on the subject.

Council. Morgan then read the platform of the Convention.

The preamble recites the indorsement and adherence to the principles adopted by the National Convention; labor creates all wealth, and is entitled to all that it produces; the platform asks sanitary inspection of all food, dwellings, t.c., establishment of public baths; more sewers in the woringmen's districts; abundant facilities for schooling; abolishment of the contract sysem; fixed salaries for all city officers, Aldermen ncluded; eight hours a day's labor; the city lebt to be funded at a low rate of interest; heap transportation from one part of the city of the other; etc. etc.

The platform was adopted.

The following nominations were then made; First Ward—William Clemens.

Second Ward—Henry Appel.

Third Ward—C. S. White.

Fourth Ward—Rhinehard Munster.

Fourteenth Ward—Frank Stauber.
Fifteenth Ward—John Soller.
Sixteenth Ward—Henry Stahl.
Seventeenth Ward—Henry Stahl.
Seventeenth Ward—Herman Tintger.
Owing to the constitutionality of the consolidation of the two fowns not having been decided as yet, the Convention resolved to place in nomination one ticket for one town as well as a ticket for each of the three towns, as iollows:
South Town—Collector, Henry Smith; Supervisor, Charles Kelly; Clerk, John Ryan; Assessor, A. B. Jurgensen.
West Town—Collector, August Spies; Supervisor, Rudolph Hartman; Assessor, no choice.
North Town—Collector, J. C. Warner: Supervisor, Rudolph Hartman; Assessor, no choice.
North Town—Collector, J. C. Warner: Supervisor, Robert Widdecomb; Clerk, Frank Hirth; Assessor, Timothy O'Meara.
The Consolidated Town Ticket—Collector, J. C. Warner; Supervisor, Henry Smith; Clerk, Frank Hirth; Assessor, Timothy O'Meara.
The Convention then adjourned. The candidates nominated will be ratified by a general meeting to be held next Sunday.

13-15-14.

An Alleged Explanation.
To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune,
CHICAGO, March 6.—The 13—15—14 com tion can be solved by removing two blocks turning each half around and replacing each in its own square, then proceeding as usual.

How to Work It.
To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.
CHICAGO, March 6.—The situation of the fif CHICAGO, March 6.—The situation of the fif-teen-block puzzle depends upon a law of me-chanics known as "the cogs," Professor So and So to the contrary notwithstanding. Take two cogs (wheels) working in each other; the run-ning of one reverses the motion of the other. So in working the puzzle. Supposing the 14 and 15 to be reversed. In righting them you reverse two others. But if you will reverse four blocks, then any boy can work it. Reverses in blocks and nabody can work it. And so on. So that it comes down to this principle: If an even number of pairs of blocks are reversed it will work out, but if an odd number of pairs are reversed nobody can work it. Yours truly,

"Fifteen."

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribuna.

CHICAGO, March 8.—Many are the brain-aches, many the perplexed, since the puzzle mania seized us in its irresistible clutches. Simpletons, sages, and scientists alike have wearled their brains over our latest novelty, the "Fifteen puzzle," and yet they are not happy; and many, it would seem, are no nearer a solution to the proper arrangements of this little "box of blocks" than they were before spending so many hours in the realm of perplexity.

Some have said that the consecutive arrangement of the blocks without removing from the box was an utter impossibility. To such let one of the ex-perplexed say a word to the contrary. I have found several ways of bringing the blocks to the proper place, some complicated, others surprisingly simple. I pay he attention to the arrangement of the two upper lines, for almost any child could arrange them properly. One solution is as follows: It is not difficult to arrange the blocks in the third horizontal row so sto read 9 10, —, 13, and in the fourth 12, 15, 11, 14; or, in the third row, 9, 10, 11, —, in the fourth 12, 15, 11, 13; if the former arrangement is made, transpose to the latter by moving 11 up, 14 right, 3 down; then move 13 up, 14, 15, 12 right, 9 down, 10 left, 12 up, 15 1., 11 d., 15 u., 15 u., 15 u., 16 d., 18, 11, 11, 12 u., 15, 14 r., 15 d., 10 r., 9 u., and you have them arranged consecutively.

14., 13 u., 15 r., 13 d., 13, 11 l., 12 u., 15, 14 r., 13 d., 10 r., 9 u., and you have them arranged consecutively.

Another more simple method is to imagine the blocks in the third and fourth horizontal rows as formed in an oblong; they will, when consecutively arranged, read to the right.—9, 10, 11, 12, 15, 14, 13. Now, as this is the form that we desire to place them in, will make our general movement to the left, taking 9 as leader, and inserting or removing (when the opportunity occurs) as will bring them nearer the desired arrangement, for instance: if the third row reads, say, 15, 9, 10, the fourth, 12, 13, 14, 11, move y, 10, 1; 11, u.; 12, 13, 14, r.; 15, d.; 9, 10, 11, 1; 14, u.; 15, 12, 13, r.; 9 d.; 10, 11, 1; 12, u.; 9, 15, r.; 10 d.; 11, 12, 1; 15, u.; and rotate the seven blocks until in regular order. This seems to me so simple that it becomes no "brain-cracker" at all.

ELECTION RILLIPOZING

The United States Court Called Upon to Protect Voters at a Municipal Elec-

The United States Court Called Upon to Protect Voters at a Municipal Election.

A very important question is to be decided by Judge Drummond, Tuesday,—no less a one than, "Does the United States statute in relation to intimidating voters apply to white as well as colored men?" It is brought up in connection with the result of a local election field in the Town of Elgin last Monday, wherein the question at stake was that of high or low license. The candidates for Mayor were E. S. Joslyn, in support of low license, and Frank Baroth, on the side of the high figure. The contest was a sharp one, as the forces were about evenly balanced, and every known means was resorted to by each side to win the day. Prominent on the side of high license was H. Lee Borden, who is in charge of the milk-condensing works at Elgin. The result of the ballot was that high license carried the day, and Baroth was elected Mayor as the exponent of that idea. Yesterday Joslyn, with James Coleman, who had been retained by the saloonkeepers, appeared before Commissioner Hoyne in this city and requested a warrant to issue for the arrest of Borden for a violation of the United States Election law. They made affidavit that Borden had buildaged some twenty-two of his employes into voring the high license ticket. It was alleged that he had personally told his men that they would be discharged unless they voted the ticket. These statements Joslyn and Borden supported by affidavits and statements of those interested, and about a score of witnesses.

The application for a warrant was based on Sec. 5,507 of the United States Revised Statutes, which was enacted at about the same time as the Fifteenth Amendment, as an additional safeguard for an unrestricted suffrage. The section in question is as follows:

"Every person who prevents, hinders, controls, or intimidates another from exercising or in exercising the right of suffrage, to whom that right is guaranteed by the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, by means of hibery or i morning, was set upon by a band of north to the hotel at 12:15 yesterday morning, was set upon by a band of highwaymen, five in number, who had evidently just started forth for a night's carousal in crime. Mr. Parker was accompanied by a friend, who also hais from New York, and who peremptorily refused to give the police his name, but his presence did not deter the robbers in the least from carrying out their intent. One of the quintet held Mr. Parker up, while another went through his pockets for a pocket-book containing about $85 cash, a permit to carry a revolver, issued by the Superintendent of the New York Police, and a ticket to the Central Theatre. While this was in progress some of the others were attempting to go through the clothing of his friend in like manner, but he succeeded in fighting them off, so that they did not get anything.

THE DAVIS BIGAMY CASE. The following was received from Albany by uperintendent O'Donnell:

Superintendent O'Donnell:

"Papers not here yet. Governor has gone to New York. Writ of habeas corpus still pending but can't be heard nntil Monday. I think Davis will get out on another writ. Answer.

"J. D. SHEA."

A telegram was at once sent back ordering Detective Shea to keep his man by all means, and that the necessary papers would probably reach him to-day or early Monday morning. A postal-card, bearing the signature "Anonymous," was received at police headquarters. It purported to give information of a wife and child whom Davis abandoned at Elkhart, Ind., but, from the manner in which it was worded, the police do not place much reliance upon it. There is now no doubt, however, as to Davis criminality, and when he is brought to trial here there will be at least two of his many wives who will be sensible enough to prosecute him to the end.

THE JUSTICES. Herman Henke, a farmer from Dundee, Ill. came to town to see the sights yesterday forencen, and along about 11 o'clock strolled into a saloon at No. 44 Fifth avenue robbed of $68 in cash, and was then thrown out of the place in a partially conscious condition He entered complaint at the Armory, and Detectives Wiley and Amstein at once arrested the bartender in the place, Charles Reck by name Justice Wallace held him in $500 to the 8th. Justice Wallace held him in $500 to the 8th.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Joseph Bibler, an old gentleman from Rochester, ind., reported at the Armory that while on his way to the Michigan Southern depot he saw a man standing in the doorway of a building on Polk street, near Fourth avenue, and inquired of him the way to the depot.

Just as he did so, the fellow caught him by the coat collar, and twisted him about several times, and said: "Damn you; yes, I'll show you the way to the depot." Mr. Bibler begged to be let alone, and the stranger desisted. A little farther on Mr. Bibler missed his watch and chain. Mr. Bioler missed his watch and chain.
An hour after the occurrence Detectives McDonald and Duffy arrested on Wabash avenue, near Eldridge court, an ex-Penitentiary convict named William Hutchinson, in whose possession they found the stolen watch and chain.
Justice Wallace held the prisoner in $1,000 to the Criminal Court.

Sunday, Jan. 25, a band of thieves raised a disturbance in front of Philip Sunfield's bakery, at the corner of Morgan and Gurley streets, and when Mr. Sunfield came out to remonstrate with them, they knocked him down and robbed him of $35 cash. James, alias "Curly," Mangan, one of the principals in the affair, jumped town and went to Kansas City. He returned a day or two ago, and was last evening locked up in the West Twelfth Street Station by Officers Loughlin and Kelley. Michael Rail and Paddy Connors are prisoners at the same station, Officers O'Grady and Scott having found them in possession of three bridles and a monkey-wrench, for which an owner is wanted. ARRESTS.

CINCINNATI'S MUSIC-BOX. "Like Sweet Bells Janyled, Out of Tune

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

CINCINNATI, O., March 6.—Present indications are that Theodore Thomas' connection with the College of Music will terminate much sooner than he intended. In his letter of resignation was a clause imputing to the managers evasify and misrepresentation in their treatment of his demands. This remark made the Directors angry, and their sreply accepting his resignation is couched in sharp terms. It says his language toward them is such as to preclude all further discussion, and hints that he had better go at once, and not wait for the expiration of the year nce, and not wait for the expiration of the year once, and not wait for the expiration of the year in October.

So far as the present Board is concerned, there is no possible hope of reconcilation, and, unless the control of the college changes hands through the purchase of a controlling share of the stock by Mr. Thomas' friends, the late Director wfil be on his way to New York in a few weeks. A movement to secure a controlling amount of stock, and overrule the present Directors is under way but its success is doubtful. The present Directors are Reuben Springier, Gen. A. T. Goshorn, and ex-Gov. J. D. Cox, three men in whom the public have the highest confidence.

Popular sentiment still runs strong in favor of Thomas, but there seems to be no way in which it can find expression in anything more than talk.

Three leading professors, Schneider, Foley,

Three leading professors. Schneider, Foley, and Mees, have followed Thomas' example and resigned. Otto Sengier will probably succeed to the temporary Directorship.

To the Western Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., March 6.—There is a strong feeling in favor of retaining Theodore Thomas here at the head of the College of Music, and, as he has plainly intimated a desire to remain at the head of a school which shall be a real college of music, that feeling took shape in an effort to obtain a subscription to the stock of the present colelege with a view of getting a majority of the stock and then reinstating Thomas. Its promoters state to-night that encouraging progress has been made, but do not give the amount of stock taken.

ROSE D'ERINA.

Special Dispatch to The Catcago Tribuna.

DUBUQUE, Ia., March 6.—The report is current to-night that Mile. Rose D'Erina, the great Irish lyric star, who has been singing in this city for some time for the benefit of different societies, will be arrested Sunday for stealing a $500 bond from the Sisters of Charity of Dayenport. Rose arrived in this city this morning, but, it is said, got an inkling that papers were out for her arrest, and she, in company with her maid, Mag Rose, left for the Illinois shore.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Is., March 6.—Col. Preston Iowa's noted criminal lawyer, taken last Saturday with inflammation of the brain, has been lying in an unconscious condition since Monday, and his death is hourly expected. He was United States District-Attorney under President Polk served two terms in the Iowa Logislature, and has resided in Linn County over forty years. THE RAILROADS.

EAST-BOUND FREIGHT MOVEMENT The reduction in east-bound grain rates has had a good effect, and shipments are being made more freely than heretofore. And, were it not for the fact that shippers anticipate a still further reduction before long, shipments would be still heavier. Where the late reduction did be still heavier. Where the late reduction did tell most was on corn, which could not be shipped at the former rates, as the transportation charges amounted to about 33 per cent on the price of the article, while the charge on wheat was but 17 per cent. Since the reduction has been made corn has come forward very freely, but wheat is still being held by the speculators. The latter cereal has been but little benefited by the reduction, because the ocean rates have advanced about the same figure as the rail rates have been reduced. The grain will probably be held until another reduction in the rate is made, which will be about the time of the opening of navigation, when the parties now holding it will be compelled to let it so. They must have bewhich will be about the time of the opening of navigation, when the parties now holding it will be compelled to let it so. They must have become convinced before this that they made a bad speculation when they bought the wheat and filled up the elevators on the supposition that there would be a heavy demand in Europe. The demand has never come, the Europeans refusing to pay the prices demanded in this country. There can be no doubt that, under existing circumstances, the wheat now held here and at other Western points will commence to go forward as soon as navigation opens and advantage can be taken of the lower lake rates. As the lakes will not be able to take care of all the wheat, of course the roads will get a large share of it, and for this reason the latter expect to do an immense business during the next two or three months.

The cause of the heavy increase of business on the Lake Shore and Baltimore & Ohio has just come to light. As already stated, most of this business has gone to Baltimore, and it has caused general surprise that the Lake Shore should get the bulk of this business. There has been a suspicion that the Lake Shore boom has been caused by cutting of the rates. But such is not the fact. The shippers had to pay full rates, but nevertheless a sharp game has been practiced against the other roads. Under the prorating arrangement the Western lines get a larger proportion by shipping over a short route than a long one. The Lake Shore therefore agreed with some of the Western lines to accept the short-line division, and for this reason the Western roads have sont their freight over this route.

The shipments of flour, grain, and provisions during the week ending March 6, 1880, were 41,330 tons, against 40,183 tons the week previous, an increase of 1,147 tons. The following statement shows the amount of business done by the various roads:

Michigan Central. 12.206 5.784 Lake Shore. 9.572 11.379 Fort Wayne. 11,079 1.683 Pan-Handle. 8.175 1,066 Baltimore & Ohio. 557 3,125 42,029 23,038 15,198 41,330

DETROIT, LANSING & NORTHERN. DETROIT, LANSING & NORTHERN.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribuna.

DETROIT, Mich., March 6.—The annual report of the Detroit, Lansing & Northern Railway for 1879 was completed by General-Manager J. B. Mulliken to-day. It makes a very handsome showing. The receipts were as follows: From passengers, $250,142.86; from freight, $786,764.91; from miscellaneous, $42,02.86; total income $1,108,022.66; total expense, $659,787.20; net income, $454,145.45. The increase in earnings over 1878 was $138,898. During the year 417,788 tons of freight were hauled, an increase of $3,031; number of passengers carried, 434,102, an increase of 61,121; total mileage of freight-cars, 6,873.615 miles, an increase of 1,000,000. The Company owns 241 miles of track, an increase of thirteen miles during the year, and of this 201 miles were operated. The construction of the new branch from Blanchard to Big Rapids, a distance of about twenty-five miles, will be completed April 15. The total cost will be about $220,000. The survey for the branch leaving Stanton Branch about three miles south of Stanton and running in a northerly direction to the junction of tithe east and west branches of Fish Creek has been made. The branch will be about four and a half miles long, and will tap and secure to the road a valuable tract of pine timber (about 150,000,000 feet), which otherwise would be put into the creek and floated to market by way of Grand River, Mills to cut this pine are in process of erection. The cost of this feeder will be $38,630. The estimated earnings of the road for January and February of the present year are $121,204, an increase over 1879 of $38,651.

JAY GOULD IN TEXAS.
Special Dispatch to The Obleage Tribuns.
FORT WORTH, Tex., March 6.—Jay Gould, Gen. G. M. Dodge, President of the Texas Improve-ment Company; Gen. T. T. Eckert, President of the American Union Telegraph Company; ex-Gov. John C. Brown and Frank Bond, Vice-Gov. John C. Brown and Frank Bond, Vice-Presidents; and Col. George Noble, Superintendent of the Texas & Pacific Railroad, arrived here at a late hour last night on a special train. They leave this morning for St. Louis, via the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad. In a running conversation with Mr. Gould, he expressed himself as being pleased with what he had seen of Texas, and predicted a bright future for the State. He is here entirely on a tour of railroad-system inspection.

Litzuz Rock, Ark., March 6.—Jay Gould, returning via the Iron Mountain Railroad from his Texas railroad inspection, went to the Hot Springs by the Narrow-Gauge, and spent the day there.

THE PULLMAN PALACE-CAR COMPANY.

Mr. A. B. Pullman, of the Pullman Palace-Car Company, left last evening for New York on business connected with his corporation, which,
at this time, is extending itself more than the public is generally aware of. An order has recently come from Australia for the Interior outfit and furnishing of a number of diningroom cars for the Government railways in that far-off land. These are now making at Detroit.
The London, Brighton & South Coast Railway, of England, is contemplating putting on a limited
Pullman train of parlor and dining cars, as is now being run between London and Plymouth. Pullman parlor cars have been placed on the Dutch State Railway between Flushing and Cologue. Recently the Great Northern Railroad of England has placed Pullman cars on its line between London and Edinboro. The Pullman Palace-Car Company is also building ten narrow-gauge sleeping-cars for the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad and eight hotelcars to run between St. Louis and Cheyenne.

STRUGGLING FOR CONTROL.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribuna.

Louisville, Ky., March 6.—A private dispatch from New York says that in the struggie for the control of the Ohio & Mississippi stock now going on there the Louisville & Great Southern people will win. There has been a remarkable advance of late in Ohio & Mississippi securities, and it is said it has had a cause in a fight between Gould and Newcomb. The Louisville & Nashville people here do not think their leaders wish the Ohio & Mississippi. It will be remembered that Tom Scott and President Standiford talked about buying the Louisville & Cincinnati Short Line some time ago, but seemed to abandon their plan, probably because the purchase of the Short Line would require some $13,000,000, whereas control of the Ohio & Mississippi stock could be had for a much less sum. O. & M., SPRINGFIELD DIVISION.

Special Dispatch to The Catego Tribuna.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March & The local bond-holders and parties interested in the Springfield Division of the Ohio & Mississippi Railroad to-day received a dispatch announcing that the Garretts had sold the bonds and stock purchased by them to the representatives of the Louisville, Nashville & Chattanooga Railroad, and that this would give Stafford and his combination control of the road and rolleve it from entangling alliances with the Baltimore & Ohio. As stated in these dispatches a few weeks since, the bond-holders and creditors of the Springfield Division have been anxious to consummate an arrangement with the Louisville, Nashville & Chattanooga since the road has been placed in the hands of a Receiver, and negotiations to that end have been pending. It appears, however, from information received here, that the Louisville, Nashville & Chattanooga combination have secured control of the main line

NEW YOUN, March 6.—Vice-President Newcomb, of the Louisville & Nashville Company, who is now in this city awaiting the arrival of ex-President Cole, of the Nashville & Chattanooga Company, with whom he is to have a conference, said yesterday that the report that his Company proposes to purchase the Ohio & Mississippi Road is unfounded, absurd, and ridiculous. "In fact," added Mr. Newcomb, "you can

We have never invested one dollar in the stock of the Ohio & Mississippi Road as a Company, nor have I individually. We don't want the road, and wouldn't have it at any price." On the strength of the report Ohio & Mississippi stock has been advanced 10 per cent within the past few days.

DES MOINES, ODEL & WESTERN.
Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribuna
SHOUX CITY, Ia., March 6.—President Polk, of Stoux Cirv., Ia., March 6.—President Polk, of the Des Moines, Odel & Western Railroad, says their road is in a condition to extend to the Mis-souri River this year, and would strike at Sioux City if that place gave any inducements. If not, it would strike the river at some point above. Sioux City understands the value of a direct route to the heart of the State, and will do what is reasonable.

SALE ORDERED. New Orleans, March 6.—Judge Woods, of the Circuit Court, to-day rendered a decree declar-ing Edmund D. Morgan and James A. Raynor Trustees of the New Orleans & Mobile Railroad, and ordering the sale of the road and distribu-ion of the proceeds among the bondholders. This will probably give effect to the sale of the road to the Louisville & Nashville Company.

The English railway people evidently appreciate the services of their managers. Mr. James Alport was for twenty-six years the manager of the Midland Railroad. He recently retired from active service, and the corporation which had employed him so long presented him with the munificent sum of £10,000 sterling, or $50,000.

It was generally expected by the railroad employes that the advance of salaries on the Van derbilt road s would speedily be followed by similar advance on all other roads. But thus fa none of the lines have signified their intention to raise wages and there is much gramphing and

The Northwestern Grand Trunk opened its line for passenger traffic yesterday. For the present two accommodation-trains only will be run between this city and Thornton. The depot at this point will for the present be at Twenty-sixth street and Western avenue. The Blue Island avenue cars will take passengers within a short distance of the depot. These trains leave this city at 10 a.m. and 5 p.m., and arrive at 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. It is understood that the Grand Trunk has completed, or is about to complete, arrangements with the Western Indiana for using the latter's line for its passenger-trains, and a temporary depot is at once to be constructed on Fourteenth street, near State. It is expected to have this depot ready in about two weeks, when the Grand Trunk trains will run in there. At the same time regular through passenger-trains to Montreal, Quebec, Portland, Boston, and New London will also commencing running.

Rise of Rents-New City Im

In one or two directions real estate has been site, with some alight symptoms of excite-seal, but generally the market has been quiet, south very firm. The largest transactions are mailboad and Manufacturing terrises that have so suddenly loomed up on Chleago horizon. One of the most important three is the purchase by the new Glucose suffecturing Company of this city of the crion tract, on Beach street, between Polk twelfth. This purchase gives the Company feet of frontage on the river, with a depth about 150 feet. They pay $200,000 for the land. time feet. They pay $200,000 for the land-enterprises, the location of the Pull-lance Car Company's works has excited tinterest. Columns of idle surmise and tion have been published to prove where ere to be placed. When the matter is and the Company know themselves they are going, the news will be given d authentically, in The Tribune. There set deal of inquiry for acre property ome buying to secure sites for establishments of various kinds. res in Sec. 14, on the north and state of 110 acres in Sec. 14, on the north and st shores of Lake Calumet, was offered at reclosure sale yesterday and was eagerly ten at $22,150, although the title is said to be fective. Another glucose factory than the just referred to is negotiating for quarters one Lake Calumet. A sale that did not spar in the city transfers, as it is too far south the limits was that of 315 acres, comprising a north half of Sec. 11, 37, 14, lying on Ninety-th street, west of Stony Island boulevard, be price paid was $60,000, and the purchase was able for use. Land has been bought for manucturing purposes

AS FAR SOUTH AS RIVERDALE as FAB SOUTH AS RIVERDALE
SITS an acre. Forty acres on the West India Railroad, in Sec. 21, east of the old Thornton at have been bought for $225 an acre, and venteen and one-half acres addoining for $250 acre. Park and boulevard acres and lots rebeen quiet, as this is "show" property, in the pleasing colors of spring and summer. The price of building and the corner in brick rechecked building, and with it the demand inside property to improve. This is only apprary, as the calls for houses and the rise rents will compel the erection of a large mber of houses this summer. Purchases are ing constantly made of eligible unimproved dience property on which to build. Mr. John Lyon has purchased Judge Dickey's lot

The rise in rents is steadily at work to put up the valuations of real estate. It is to be seen in dwelling, store, and office property alike, and ranges from 10 to 66 per cent, according to place and circumstances. The pressure for houses is great in all the divisions of the city. Some land-lords are holding their tenements off the market, as they feel certain of getting higher prices in April. Offices near the corner of Madison and Dearborn that rented last year for $90, have been leased at $1.500 this year. Good offices are not plenty. The old Rice Building. Nos. 75, 77, 79, and 81 Dearborn street, has been purchased by Mr. Eugene S. Pike, who is renovating it with plate-glass windows, an elevator, skylight, etc., and fitting it up for an office building of the first class. The increase in office rents has shown itself in a rise in the value of Chamber of Commerce stock from $50 a few, weeks ago to $75 a share, at which price last sales, 163; total consideration, $591,565.

BUILDING.

The total number of permits for the week was 76, and the cost $225,000. In February 223 buildings were begun. Their cost will be about $70,500. In January 165 permits were issued for buildings that will cost $208,500.

On the North Side Miss Catherine Price has begun an excavation for a large three-story dwelling, to cost $15,000, at the corner of State and Illinois. The Misses McDonaid are to erect a three-story dwelling at the corner of Dearborn avenue and Ohio street, to cost $15,000, and Mr. Eldridge Hancey two three-story dwellings at Nos. 487, and 489 North Clark street, to cost about $7,500 each.

Eldridge Hancey two three-story dwellings at Nos. 487 and 489 North Clark street, to cost about $7.500 each.

The Rock Island Elevator, No. 1, south of Twelfth street is to be torn down and rebuilt.

THE NORTH SIDE BOULEVARD.

The Committee on Streets and Alleys, North, met yesterday afternoon to further consider the question of turning over a street in the North Division for boulevard purposes. A large number of citizens were present,—some in the interest of Rush street, others in the interest of Dearborn avenue, and still others who were opposed to the boulevard idea on principle. John N. Jewett, E. C. Larned. W. D. Kerfoot, Samuel Appleton, Judge Goodrich, and others took part in the discussion, going over the arguments heretofore advanced, and asserting their preferences at such length that the Committee was completely tired out, and, in the end, had to announce that they would take the whole matter under consideration. It is believed, however, that the Dearborn avenue folks will carry the day; they certainly will, so far as the Committee is concerned, unless the arguments yesterday were too much for some of the members.

were too much for some of the members.

LEASES.

It is too early as yet to report many changes of business location. L. C. Pardee, the grocer, will move from his present quarters on State street to the store new occupied by Hovey, the florist, on Madison street. Poole & Devoe have taken the northeast corner of State and Monroe streets. The Inter-Occan will move into the Crystal Block, opposit The Taibune office, on Madison street, and will have for its counting-room the store now tenanted by Florsheim. Saulsbury, Kieln & Co. take the store vacated by C. H. Slack, and pag $5,500 a year.

D. Atwater's store on Wabash avenue, just north of Monroe street, 40x160, has been leased to the Hamilio Organ Company for $5,000 a year.

O. R. Keith & Co. have rented the store, hitherto vacant, in the Williams Building, just south of their present place.

By-and-by, from the darkness profound,
Other molecules came to my vicinity.
By which I mean gathered around,

For one little mite 'mongst the rest
I trilled in a manner irrational,
And felt in my moleculic breast
A stirring magnetic and passional:
As it felt the like toward me, too,
We joined in a mystical unity,
Till, by evolution we grew
To a perfect atomic community.

And so we evolved and revolved
In the realms of the uttermost boreal,
From gases to grasses resolved,
From them into form infusorial:
Once sentient we rapidly grew
To the molluse state, then to the saurial;
From that,—but, between me and you,
I'd best skip some links, least I bore ye all.

So I'll come to that state where our shape Was that of the order called Simian, To which belong monkey and ape And man, vide thesis Darwinian.
Oh! that was a life full of ease,
To which this one is only comparative;
Then we slept nice and snug on the trees,
Each slung by a link of his narrative. CHORUS OF SCIENTISTS (a plaintive hullaby teying, as nearly as possible, the poetry of ing bought and breeze baleam-laden):

But one day—O most sorrowful day!—
Then I was the gayest in Monkeydom—A monster, while I was at play, Caught and earried me off into Flunkeydom.
Neither tail was he blest with, nor hair,
Except on the top of his occiput,
And he only a trifle had there,
O'er the rest of his corpus some frocks he put.
CHORUS OF SCHENTISTS (suggestive of horror and wonder at the appearance of the monster):

Most pitiful then was my lot:
Condemned to the vilest of slavery.
Clad in mountebank garments and taught

The said what is bred in the bone
Will never, no never, come out again,
And the truth of the adage is shown
In myself, now once more I'm about again;

David Hume's Notion of Chastity.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribuna.

Chicago, March & —According to the crude ethical system of David Hume, chastity is simply a social expedient. In his "Inquiry Concorning the Principles of Morals," the position is taken that matrimonial idelity is a virtue on the one only ground of its political utility. Hume tries to bolster up this gross notion by quotations, in his notes, from Plato and other Pagan philosophers, who have taught, as "the best of sayings," that what was politically inutile was evil. To Plato's mind all virtues were only political; hence he advocated the descriton by parents of weak, and sickly, and orippied children, and even advocated the community of women in his Ideal Republic. This old Pagan maxim of utilitarian morals harmonized with the views of Hume. He says: "This maxim will admit of no doubt where public utility is concerned, which is Plato's meaning. And indeed to what other purpose do all the ideas of chastity and modesty serve?" Hume are easy political. Now, when the Scotch skeptic holds that chastity has only a political significance relates more pirticularly to women than to men, it takes but a significance relates more pirticularly to women than to men, it takes but a significance relates more pirticularly to women than to men, it takes but a significance relates more pirticularly to women than to men, it takes but a significance concerning the chastity of the male sign with treats of "Political Society" without ac-

The officers of the Second Regiment, I. N. G.,

ivic gentlemen, the meeting adjourned.

In response to invitations a number of literature-loving gentlemen and ladies of Chicago met at Parior O of the Paimer House at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, for the purpose of hearing Mrs. Ida Preston Gibson, of Springfield, read one of a series of papers on German Literature. Among those present were the Rev. and Mrs. Clinton Locke, Gen. and Mrs. Buford, the Rev. Dr. Mercer, Mrs. Elizabeth Harbert, Mrs. Thomas Burrows, Mrs. H. E. Starrett, Mrs. Kate N. Doggett, Miss S. A. Richards, Mrs. A. E. Bates, Mrs. Judge Tuley, Mrs. Amalia Hathaway, and others. The subject of the paper was "The Court of Weimar," which Mrs. Gibson handled in a manner which captivated the highly-cultivated audience which heard it. The paper introduced them at once to the most brilliant period of German literature, the age of Goethe and Schiller, and awakened in all present a desire to pursue the study of whose beauties an opening nisight had been given them. It is understood that Mrs. Gibson will shortly deliver her course readings in public, the subjects of the other papers which make up the series on German Literature being German Mythology, Lessing, the Nibelungen Lied, and Faust.

ing some minor amendments to the by-laws as to the manner of electing new members.

Mr. Judd. Chairman of the Executive Committee, suggested something should be done in the way of making arrangements for new rooms, as the lease of the present quarters expires April I. Gen. Stiles said good rooms could be gotten at a hotel at greatly reduced rent.

Mr. Sheldon was strongly opposed to any such change. He wanted permanent rooms for the exclusive use of the Association.

Mr. Anthony moved that when the Association adjourn it do so for only two weeks, and that the subject of new rooms be the special subject of attention then.

Nearly all the rest of the members present also had something to say on the subject, and all agreed that it would be best to get more reasonably-priced rooms and that could be used for the permanent and exclusive use of the Association.

Mr. Anthony then read item by item, the proposed amendments to the law, drawn up by the Committee on Amendments to the law. These proposed amendments were brought before the Association at the annual meeting, and published at the time in The Tribune. They relate to reports of officers receiving fees, changes in the mode of condemning land, in the eminent domain law, in relation to the settlement of estates of deceased partners, for the making of annual reports by municipalities, and as to the form of summonses.

These amendments provoked a spirited debate, and considerable difference of opinion was naturally shown, but the majority were strongly in favor of the report, and it was adopted, and the Committee was authorized to draft forms of the amendments to be presented to the Legislature.

The meeting finally adjourned in time for a

DR. GEORGE GENTSCH.

Mention was made yesterday of the sudden death of Dr. George Gentsch at his residence, No. 288 Illinois street, and of the action of the Coroner's jury, which body, k was stated, found that he came to his death through an overdose of hydrate of chloral, and that despondency, arising from business reverses or misfortune, had undoubtedly caused the act. This was an error. The cause of death was an overdose of hydrate of chloral, It was taken, however, for the purpose of relieving a trouble from which the deceased had for some time been suffering. He had often used the medicine to stop his pains, and the overdose was undoubtedly due to accident on his part. Nor was there any foundation for the statement that business reverses, or lack of occupation, could have induced him to take his life, since he, it is understood, is worth about $15,000. He was formerly Professor of Chemistry in a Cieveland (O.) college, and had of late engaged in business in this city. The deceased was a member of the Masonic fraternity and of the Knights of Pythias, and stood well both here and in that part of Ohio whence he came.

both here and in that part of Ohio whence he came.

MISS CARRIE LYNCH,
the victim of Charles E. Davis, the scoundrelly bigamist who appears to have a wife in every port, denies the implication in his published interview to the effect that she forced herself upon him at St. Louis. She says that she did meet him in St. Louis. She says that she did meet him in St. Louis. She says that she did meet him in St. Louis. She says that she did meet him in St. Louis he that he was visiting a friend. He had previously telegraphed her that he would be there at that time, and so she called on him. As to forcing herself on him she says that he sent her telegrams and letters almost every day since he first met her, and left no means untried to accomplish his purpose. She tried to break off the acquaintance several times, but he continued to telegraph and write even when he received no answer. He wanted her to go to Springfield and there to be married, but this she refused to do, and they came to Chicago, where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Leavitt. She further states her supposed husband gave as his reason for registaring under a false name the fact that he had used the firm's money and time for two weeks, and that he had overdrawn his account. The young lady seems to have got-

Mayor Harrison said that no one desired to see the Second Regiment have a home any more than he did himself, and explained his position in vetoing the measure which went through the Council some time ago to allow the command to erect an armory on the Lake-Front. He did it because he believed it to be for the best interests of the regiment. He knew better than any man living that there might be trouble in the future for all concerned, for there were even at that time negotiations pending for the purchase of that tract of land by railroads. He suggested that the city should give the regiment the use of that portion of Monroe street between Market and the river, upon which they could erect an

JOHN P. BARCOCK.

The many friends of John P. Babcock, who was a resident of this city from 1853 to 1863, will be pained to hear of his death, which occurred at Palatka, Fla., on the 28th of February, whither he had gone in search of health. Mr. Babcock came to this city in 1853 as the General Freight Agent of what is now the Chicago, Bock Island & Facific Railroad. In 1857 he left the road and associated himself in the grocery business with J. H. Dunham and H. W. Hinsdale, and afterwards with J. W. Doane. In 1853 he was compelled by ill health to give up active business, and leave Chicago. Since then he has resided in New York City. He was a man of strict integrity, and had hosts of friends among the business-men of this city. He leaves an estimable wife to morn the loss of a kind and affectionate husband. He was about 55 years old. His remains will be taken to Bridgeport, Conn., for interment.

LEMONT PAUPERISM.

It appears that even down in Lemont itself and in neighboring towns and villages the scandalous outdoor relief system has at last awakened public indignation. The Mount Forest New Evapublishes a list, showing that from Jan I, 1875, to Dec. 1, 1879, no less than $40,836 was drawn from the Cook County Treasury on this pies. In five years $29,017 was spent for groceries, provisions, and fuel. In 1878 alone the cost of these articles was $11,008, which would allow $8 per month for 115 paupers the year round. Nobody believes that anything like this number of persons justly entitled to county aid can be found in Lemont. In 1878 it cost $2,517 and for eleven months of 1879 $2,436 for medicines and medical services. There are complaints, too, of exorbitant charges made by the Supervisors, who are said to have drawn $1,462 more than the Board of Auditors allowed them. It cost $105 for railroad fares for paupers, and to prescribe $500 worth of drugs furnished in 1879 the doctors charged $2,438. The present incumbents of the town offices are blamed for carelesness and extravagance, and it is more than insinuated that a wish to make votes outweighs all considerations of economy and good government.

The philosophy of a well-brought-up boy of 15 years committing suicide comes as near being incomprehensible as anything in this world. At yard, and he went out expecting to meet his boy after the manner of the Prodigal Son, but to his anguish he found him dead. A bullet-hole in the right temple, a blood-stain on the coat, and lying near his right hand, half imbedded in the mud, a small Remington revolver, told the tale of wo. That he had committed suicide was apparent, and the grief of the parents, brothers, and sisters knew no bounds. Samuel Edgar Willard was the third son in the family, and would to-day have been 15 years and 6 months old. His parents come of good New England stock, and Edgar was brought up cautiously and yet lovingly, but, as his distracted parents now think, with perhaps a little too stern a discipline for one of his temperament. The boy was just beginning to develop into manhood, and the indiscretions common to all youth at this period were noticed in him. His parents admonished him time and again, though the provocation at no time was serious. But he was disinclined to stand reproval. Thursday night he went to the theatre, and the means he adopted of getting there were so foolishly disobedient that he was again subjected to rather severe reprovals. Friday afternoon his mother had some admonitory talk with him, after which he left home. During the evening his father spent some time in looking for him, but without success. The boy was never really stinted for money, and it was known that he had enough with him to last several days, and, when this was gone, his father was quite confident that he would find his way back home. That his son contemplated suicide when he left the house is now evinced by the fact that he took the revolver with thin. It is of peculiar construction, and only 22 in calibre. The young man was greatly beloved by his schoolmates and the members of the High-School Cadets, of which he was an active member. He was in 1 Prof. Willard's room, and hence directly under his father's supervision. In his studies he was not particularly brilliant, but ranked well above the average. Coroner Mann held an inquest in th

A WEEK or more ago Ald. Stauber introduced a resolution in the Council complaining of the condition of No. 361 Milwaukee avenue. An examination has been made by the Health Department, and no cause of complaint could be found.

THE Committee on Health and County Relations had before them yesterday the ordinance requiring residents of the South Division, north of Twelfth street, to deposit their ashes in iron boxes. They were divided on the subject, and it was finally agreed to report it back to the Council without recommendation. The ordinance originated with the Health Department.

away the dirt.

It was stated yesterday that the Health Department was in possession of a specimen of lake water which had been drawn from a hydrant, and which contained a substance resembling a tape-worm. Further examination shows that the water was drawn from a hydrant at the corner of Pacific avenue and Harrison street, and that the object in it resembling a tape-worm was nothing more nor less than a portion of the intestines of some animal. How the matter came to the Crib, and was pumped to the city and distributed, is a matter of conjecture, but it is believed that it came from the Stock-Yarda. There is an ordinance against the emptying of all such matter into the river or

THE COUNTY-BUILDING.

Frank Niesen, Collector of the North Town, yesterday turned over $5,000 to the County Treasurer, $5,113 to the city, and $5,000 to the Lincoln Park Board. The County Treasurer received $11,052 from the Pittsburg, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad on account of taxes.

JUDGE LOOMIS yesterday entered an order directing Julius Rosenberg, Assignee of the insolvent firm of Stettauer Bros. & Co., to close up his accounts with the estate. The action was taken at the request of the Assignee, who reports that matters have been arranged with all the creditors, and that he holds possession of certain property which he is desirous of turning over. He will be granted a release forthwith.

Mr. W. H. Warner, Station Agent of the Illinois Central Reliroad Station at Twenty-second street, indignantly repudiates the plracy of his name on the change of venue affidavit made in the Dwyer case. Of course every one knew that Mr. Warner was not the man, but what is vanted is for the alleged W. H. Warner to come forward and show himself. If he does not turn up, perhaps the presiding Judge of the Criminal Court may feel impelled to ask some member of the Bar to produce him.

not turn up, perhaps the presiding Judge of the Criminal Court may feel impelled to ask some member of the Bar to produce him.

The Committee on Towns and Town Accounts yesterday audited some bills and claims for support of paupers. They also received and considered the report of Chambertain, the County Visitor, on the fruitful subject of pauperism in Lemont. He reported that he had inquired into 18 8cases, including thirteen married couples, two widowers, thirty-eight widows, and 102 children, and he recommended that thirteen names, representing thirty-seven persons, should be dropped from the roll. A discussion was had as to the propriety of continuing to grant outdoor relief to seventeen childless widows who have heretofore received each from 36 to 35 per month from the county. It came out incidentally that the glittering bait of $2 per week had actually been sufficient to induce one or two widows to remove from Chicago to the happy hunting-grounds of Lemont. The end of the talk was that the Committee decided to allow $4 per month to all widows on the roll of paupers.

The Committee on Public Records met yesterday at the Recorder's office and debated a proposition, made by Judge Prescott, former United States Land Register at Springfield, to sell to the county, for $2,500, a copy of the original book containing the grants made by Uncle Sam of property in Cook County. A number of letters from Judges and members of the Bar bearing testimony to the usefulness of the book were read. Judge Prescott said that he paid a competent surveyor $1,000 for work done on the book, and also put in all his own spare time for six months upon it. But, since it only shows the conveyances from the United States Government to the original grantee or patentee, and as all the books containing the transfers made between this time and October, 1871, were turnt up in the fire, the userulness of the book in establishing a chain of title is not manifest on its face. At the same time, the "Burnt-Records act" directs County Boards to purch

TOWN CONSOLIDATION.

County-Attorner Willett has addressed a communication to the Justices of the Supreme Court in relation to the case involving the constitutionality of the law permitting the consolidation of the Towns of North, South, and West Chicago. The title of the cause is The People ex rel. Frank Schack vs. Hardin B. Brayton, and Mr. Willett saks that it be advanced on the calendar and decided at once. The town elections occur April 6, and notices must be posted March 17. The real-estate assessment made by the Assessor to be elected in April stands good for four years. Unless the question is now for four years. Unless the question is now definity settled, the assessment on all Chicago property will be jeopardized, and one-sixth of the annual revenue of the State may be lost. If the law of 1877 should be declared unconstitutional after the election of an Assessor for "The Town of Chicago," and after his assessment for the year 1830 has been made, such Assessor could not be considered a de facto officer for the two towns in which he did not reside, and disasters as serious as those which followed in the train of Bill 300 might reach not only Chicago, but Cook County and the State at large. The confusion of elections (for without this decision four may be held when only one should be) is sufficient ground for a decision prior to the April election. Such are, in brief, the reasons advanced by Mr. Willett in support of his request that the Judges shall hurry up, and Gen. George W. Smith, attorney for the respondent, Brayton (this being a friendly suit), joins in the prayer.

DEPUTY-MARSHAL JOHN STILLWELL returned from Rockford, where he placed a custodian in charge of the store of S.R. Godfrey, a clothing-merchant of that city, on an attachment in favor of Maurice Leopold and several other jobbers in this city. The local limbs of the law were possessed of an idea that a writ of replevin would hold against a United States Marshal, but they were soon dispossessed of the idea by John's locking the door in their faces and placing a custodian in charge.

Superintendent McDowell avers that Judges Blodget and Drummond were misled into making their statement that the new Government Building would not be ready for the Courts by May 1, and recommending the releasing of the present quarters. He says that all the statirways will be finished to the top of the building before that time, and that all the heavy iron-work will have been done, so that there will be no noise to interfere with the judicial stillness. The plastering on the third floor is all finished, with the exception of a small part of the corridors, and that will be finished shortly. The work of laying the encaustic tiles and the hardwood floors will be begun this week. In the Circuit Court-room the marble wainscoting has been finished to a bight of four feet, and there only remains the layer of blue marble to be put in. The office and private rooms of the

As might have been expected, Horner & Co.'s celebrated Vienna Millinery House, 316 West Madison street, is the first to introduce the spring styles on the West Bide. The display of exquisite hats, bonnets, and flowers at this popular establishment reflects great credit on Messrs. Horner & Co., and the crowds of fashionable ladies who daily visit their place show that their efforts are fully appreciated.

Somehow the ladies don't seem to grasp the leap-year idea as they should. They ought to fly around and spend their time and money on the boys, who have to do that sort of thing three years on a stretch. Leap-year was designed expressly to give the boys a financial rest, as it were, and they need it, too.

Turner, tailor, will issue his spring card this week. His styles are cholee and prices extremely low for the quality of goods.

At a leap-year party, given by some fashionable young ladies in Washington a few nights ago, several of the gentlemen wore vests cut low in the neck, had lace ruffles around their throats, and carried fans and bouquets. They must have looked too sweet for anything but pounding over the head with a club.

Some people are bound to make blunders. The story is told that at a German watering-place, at the close of the season, when the money-box affixed to the wall outside the Kursaal by the local benevoient society was opened it was found void of money, but full of the letters of an American visitor to his family at home.

The contract for furnishing the marble-tiling found void of money, but full of the letters of an American visitor to his family at home.

The contract for furnishing the marble-tiling for the new Government Building here was awarded to the Burlington Marble Co., cor. Michigan avenue and Van Buren. The contract is an important one, and is placed in responsible hands.

A young lady writes to an exchange: "For my part, I prefer a evening passed at home with a pleasant book to attending bails, parties, and theatres." O, certainly. When a young lady hasn't a beau, nor a new bonnet, nor a new walking-suit, she generally prefers to remain at home with a book,—which she is too mad to read.

St. Louis girls have a way of teasing Chicago girls. They say: "My dear, I would not like to be in your shoes." Then the Chicago girl takes a hack, and, after driving around the St. Louis girl's foot, says: "Of course, you wouldn't like it. "Twould hurt your corns to pinch them so."

All medical writers admit the tonic virtues of Cinchona Rubra, but Dr. D'Unger, at the Palmer House, was the first to discover its priceless value in cases of nervous prostration, and as a remedy for drunkenness.

ST. BENEDICT'S CROSS.

SAIR OF AN ARGUET WITH ALLEMEN WONDERFUL POWERS.

Clevelsad Leader.

Father Barnard, Prior of New Mellaray Abbey, Dubuque, Ia., is another of those Romish priests who have been running into debt with no means of paying it, save by wholesale begging and inposture. He has sent to all parts of the United States, a circular stating that, to pay off a heavy debt on the new unfinished abbey, it is proposed to have two daily masses—one for the living and one for the dead—said every day for fifty years, in the benefits of which those who give the abbey a hundred dollars will participate. Donors of $50 will get the fruits of the two masses for twenty-five years, and for smaller sums in proportion.

Father Barnard, Prior, sends out with his circular a cheap medal called "The Cross of St.
Benedict," and a description of the virtues thereof. The latter begins with an account of Bruno, afterwards Pope Leo IX., who, in his youth having been bitten by a serpent, had a vision at the point of death, in which he saw St.
Benedict coming down a ladder whose top was in Heaven and its foot on the sick boy's bed.
The saint held in his hand a luminous cross,
with which he touched the boy and cured him instantly. Of course, he joined the Order of St.
Benedict, and climbed, probably by the saint's ladder, to the Papal throne.

The circular says:

"In order that this medal may be a saintary means in all our necessities of soul and body, but especially a guard against the assaults of the evil spirit, the Church has, for its blessing, ordained special exoreisms and payers. Innumerable facts show that the faithful, by the pious use of His Cross and the invocation of 8t.
Benedict, receive extraordinary graces from God; spiritual graces, sudden conversiona, especially at the hour of death; preservation of mothers in child-bearing; instantaneous cures;
protection against thunder and lightning, storms, sickness, poison, plagues, dangers, and against all the lightences of the wicked spirit, it is also a most po

it would be well to say every day in order to enjoy more abuntantly the fruit of this holy devotion."

Having thus described the wonderful powers of this amulet, after the fashion of an Indian Medicine Man in a Mandan Lodge, the circular proceeds, like the "small bils" in the circular proceeds who wear this medal. Such as say the Rosary once a week not conception of the Blessed Virgin, and the feast of St. Benedict. An indulgence of twenty years for praying daily for the extirpation of heretica. An indulgence of one-third of one's incurred penalties for sin for the conversion of a sinner. And so further. At the end of the bill of particulars the deluded followers of Rome are assured that "all the above-mentioned indulgences can be applied to the souls in purgatory."

This is by no means the only attempt the Romish Church has imade to revive in America the business of selling dispensations and indulgences which directly led to the Protestant Reformation, and which the Church would hardly dare to renew in any country in Europe. Put into pialn language, it means that, in consideration of money put into the hands of a priest, the contributor will be allowed to commit an with immunity on certain days or during specified terms. It sets at nought every divine command we are taught in the Word of God that the soul that sinneth shall die; but the Romish Church as yet to its followers, if you give money to the priests, wear an amulet, and mumble a few formal and meaningless prayers, you may sin with ent

MAGGIE MITCHELL.

MAGGIE MITCHELL.

With Maggie Mitchell at Hooley's, Clinton Hall's "Strategists" at McVicker's, and the Minnie Palmer "Boarding School" at Hamilin's, the theatres during the week have been singularly barren of novelly, and yet the patronage all around has been generous.

It is quite unnecessary to enter into the dealth of Miss Mitchell's performances, or to comment upon those qualities which years ago won her hearty and substantial recognition among theatre-goers. As ever, her nature and her art are free from the tinge of coarseness or vulgarity, and appeal to the purest hearts. Few womenfrom the time when a child she began her career at the Old Bowery under Hamblin's management—have served the American public more atthfully, and as few have, through the many changes and the vexations disappointments of an actress' life, won a more bonored reputation. Her faculties, the wise employment of which has given her a strong place in the affections of piny-goers, it not of the highest order, certainly deserve the warm recognition always accorded. That recognition has again been awarded her during he engagement just closed at Hooley's. At the natince yesterday the house was crowded. Her ole was Fanchon, a part with which we need carcely say she has been as closely identified since she first played it in 1862 at Laura Keene's New York Theatre as has Jefferson with Rip Van Winkle. It is uscless for the critic to decry the chief plays in her repertoire,—"Fanchon," "The Fearl of Savoy," "Lorie, —and to point out the advisability of her appearing in framatic work of a better grade and better mited to her now. In spite of the fact that her point out the advisability of her appearing in framatic work of a better grade and better mited to her now. In spite of the fact that her plays in her repertoire,—and to decry the chief plays in her repertoire, she finds, we believe, in other sites that the public prefer her as the old familiar Funchon, etc. Here, however, her picture of Currer Bell's heroine always draws a large house, and

The Boston Herald, speaking of the opening of Hooley's new Novelty Theatre, which occurred last Monday, says that not even standing room was to be had. That paper predicts a big season for the house.

The Union Square Theatre company is under engagement to J. H. Haverly for a seven-weeks' engagement in this city, beginning on the 2d of Aurust. They will play in "French Flats" and "The False Friend."

Dr. Quinlin says the present season at Hooley's will prove the most successful in many years. He also says there is no truth in the report that during A. M. Palmer's recent visit to the city arrangements were made by which the Union Square manager should secure the theatre for next season. A proposition was made, but nothing was definitly done.

Herne and Belasco, we understand, have issued papers to stop Manager Hamila from producing "The Hearts of Oak," which that manager intends to do on Monday evening under the title of "The Love of Two Sallors." Inasmuch as Messrs. Herne and Belasco obtained their material for the play from the old English "Mariner's Compas," it is rather difficult to see just where their sole and exclusive right comes in. Hamilin mays he won't be buildosed, and to-morrow night will present the drama.

their sole and exclusive right comes in. Hamlin mays he won't be buildozed, and to-morrow night will present the drama.

The success of Denman Thompson is probably one of the greatest financially in the history of the American stage. Our readers will remember the crowds seen every night during his fourweeks' engagement at McVicker's last fall. The enormous business started here at the beginning of the season has continued. In January Mr. Hil's attraction began a season of four weeks at the Boston Theatre. The receipts for that period netted some $50,000. For nearly four weeks Thompson has been playing in the New England circuit to the largest business ever known there. An Eastern paper is authority for the statement that the business has averaged $2,000 better in the week than any previous attraction. By the way, right here is may not be out of place to say that the rumors to the effect that Manager Hill had dropped "All the Rare" are entirely unfounded. At the Gaiety Theatre, Boston, the comedy has been drawing large houses for five weeks, and the sixth of the engagement will be commenced to-morrow evening.

At McVicker's Theatre to-morrow evening, for the first time in this city, "The Two Mothers" is, we understand, a translation or an adaptation of the melodrama of MM. Crisfulli and Barbusse, entitled "L'Affaire Caverly." At the Theatre Ambigut, Paris, the play was first produced and was originally christened "L'Affaire Tichborne." The French Consor, however, objected to this title, and it was changed. In substance we believe the story recents the well-known Tichborne case, varied sufficiently to meet the general verdict was decidedly favorable. Manager McVicker has prepared for the production some very elaborate scenery, for the display of which there is much opportunity. The cast will include Messra. Thomas W. Keene, Mark M. Price, S. E. Springer, A. Z. Chipman, J. T. Craven, H. A. Cripps, Gene Wiley, M. E. Chase, S. E. Spenneer, H. A. Ponnoyer, Miss Hanrietta Rose, Mrs. Treville.

The West Side Academy still attracts the people. Sid C. France, the Ethiopian star, has been playing his sanguinary drama in three acts entitled "In the Web." Among the villains there is a heavily-laid-on flendishness that positively fascinates, and among the other set of characters there is a corresponding exhibition of lofty morality and implying virtue. Mr. George W. Thompson gives a virtuous rendition of the lover of the piece. Miss lille Moses as the heroine is graceful; Miss Lizzie Fletcher, in a rather uncongenial character, looks pretty and dresses nicely; and pretty little Aunie Boyd has a most unthankful part, which she makes the most of. A piece of low comedy which pleased the house was presented by Mr. Melyille, and Mr. T. J. Langdon as the awfully awful bad man came in for the hearty excerations of the justice-loving gods.—a compilment from that part of the house. One of the finest caricaturists we have samed the Academy program has presented a number of variety performers of more or less ability. Mr. Harry France well star at this house during the coming week in the drama. "After Dark," and Keating and Sands, J. Arthur Doty, and Tim Rogers will figure in the olio.

Clara Morris' new play, "The Soul of an Actress "recently produced in San Francisco successfully, is said to be founded upon an episode in the life of a French actress, who in a fit of jealousy uses a lottre de cachet to imprison her lover, and afterward relents, and not only labors for his release, but consents to his marriage with her rival. The part is said to exhibit Miss Morris in her bost vein.

Miss Morris in her best vein.

Really little worthy of record in the way of dramatic novelty has occurred during the past week, not only here but elsewhere. We haven't even a new play to speak of as having seen the light in New York. Philadelphia, Boston, or in San Francisco. There the managers have either been presenting the attractions which have already secured a place in public favor, or they have been engaged in the work of revivals. have been engaged in the work of revivals.

The last theatre in the country outside of New York, Boston, and San Francisco to throw over the stock company system is the Philadelphia Chestnut. The Chestnut manager finds that his pertinacity does not pay, for he has not only announced that he will have no company next season, but that the salaries of the present excellent company are reduced one-third. He says that in only three weeks this season did the receipts equal expenses, the loss often reaching $1,200.

Epimini Venturoli, who, it is said, has appeared in the theatres of Paris, London, Berlin, St. Petersburg, and New York as a danseuse, and who brought with her a fortune in diamonds when she came to America not many years ago, is now cking out a living by begging from door to door in New York City. She was arrested the other day and brought into the Tombs Police Court upon complaint of bankers and brokers. The woman had been annoying them by going to their places of business and beaging. She appeared bent in form, her limbs distorted, and her face bore a hideous expression, the result of great suffering. With a warning, the Judge discharged her.

A Double Baby—A Veritable Human Carlosity at Hombay, India.

Bombay Times.

There is at present in Bombay a living object that may rightly be classed among the most curious phenomena of Nature. At a home in Mazagon may be seen a pair of female twins, separate in every respect but from the breastbone to the lower part of the abdomen, which is closely joined. The upper breast of each infant is joined into the other, the outer skin covering both trunks. The twins are joined front to front; shoulders, arms, lower limbs, and feet perfectly formed, and development healthy, while the heads are well-shaped and the faces really pretty, with beautiful eyes, larger and bright. The twins are 6 months old, are in perfect health, and measure twenty inches in hight, one appearing, but in a very tritling degree, larger than the other.

Both have vigorous appetites, and take kindly to the feeding-hottle; are extremely lively, and appear good tempered. The pulses beat in unison; they generally fall asleep or keep awake together, and their actions are usually simultaneous, though sometimes one would crywhile the other was quictly drawing at the mouth-piece of its bottle. The strangely-united pair was born at Dapooli, in the Rutnagherry Collectorate, the father being a Mohanmedan and a seafaring man, while the mother had beside a pretty little daughter about 10. The infants feed separately, each having a bottle to itself, and draw vigorously at their nourishment. The doctor declares it would be impossible to separate them without extinguis ing life. The twins have, up to this time, never frown ill, and to every appearance are likely to grow up.

THE ST. LOUIS HUMBUG. THE ST. LOUIS HUMBUG.

Special Correspondence of The Chicago Tribuna.

St. Louis, March t.—Now that the program for the spring running meeting here has been announced, the usual amount of blowing is being indulged in by those whose interests lie in the direction of having the enterprise result in a success, but it is extremely doubtful if their wishes and hopes will be realized, since all the prominent stables have made their engagements for the early part of the season, and one not likely to change them in order to accommodate an association which has never been popular with horsemen, and which has never let slip an opportunity to get the best of them. It may be argued by some that the new Club will avoid the mistakes made by its defunct predecessor, but this is not likely, since it is freely alleged that the new concern is simply a second edition of the dead and disgraced one under mother news.

cessor, but this is not likely, since it is freely alleged that the new concern is simply a second edition of the dead and disgraced one under another name.

This may seem a bold statement to make, but it is one that will be concurred in by nearly all the horsemen of this city, and others who have taken the trouble to look into the matter. It is well known that the original Jockey Club was composed of some very high-toned young men—descendants of the best (which means the wealthiest) families of St. Louis. They went about the business of organizing and conducting a race-track with a great flourish of trumpets, and ended, as such young spring generally do, by making themselvos and the Association unpopular with nearly every person who was so unfortunate as to have dealings with them. When a losing season came, instead of paying their obligations like men. or confessing their mability to do so, they resorted to a trick which perhaps showed their true colors more fully than any other course could have done. When it became necessary for the Club to borrow money in order that its obligations might be men, several of the more prominent members of the organization furnished $12,000, and took as security for the same a mortgage upon the race-track and buildings. Last season was another disastrous one, and no part of the money was repaid. In the meantime several small claims, amounting in the aggregate to perhaps $2,000, had accumulated, and in addition to these the mortgage fell due, was not paid, and the trustees gave notice that the track would be sold Jan. Is. As the ground and buildings cost something over $60,000, it was thought the property would certainly bring enough to satisfy the mortgage, pay the small claims above alluded to, and leave a little something for the stockholders, many of whom were men of small means who had been induced to invest in the cuterprise by the sight of such apparently powerful names at the head of the scheme. But, as the story goes, this was exactly what the big stockholders many of something was in the wind, and went to their respective homes firmly convinced that there would be no sale aslong as any outsiders were on hand to bid.

When Feb. 10 arrived the sale took place, but the only man present who appeared to want the property was Sam Eckers, a well-meaning frenchman who runs an enting and drinking place here and has been more or less connected with the running and trotting turf for a number of years. Up to the day of the sale even his most intimate acquaintances had not suspected Mr. Eckers of having such a surplus of wealth as to be willing to invest money in an abandoned and dishonored race-track, but Sam bid $17,000 for the property with the assurance of a Vanderbilt, and it became his. This amount was just about sufficient to wipe out the $12,000 mortgage with accrued interest, and if, as people say, the stockholders who loaned that money were anxious to get the property for the amount of their claim, and had put Eckers forward to do the work for them, they succeeded admirably.

One effect of the transfer was to wipe out all liabilities of the old Club, among them being the claim of John Splan for $400 cash, which he deposited with the high-toned officers of the defunct organization to be forwarded to Sceretary Vail, that official having wrongly suspended a couple of horses in Splan's stable, or, rather, having failed to send out notice of their reinstatement. Had the St. Louis people been possessed of the instincts of common commercial honor there would have been no trouble about this $400, but instead of sending it to Mr. Vail, or retaining it until the question of its ownership could be settled, they put it somewhere (nobody can tell the exact spot), and when called upon for it, simply said they had spent it, and would not make the amount good. It was a disgraceful act, and so characterized by every paper in the country which referred to the subject, but this kind of talk made no impression upon the tough-hided representatives of St. Louis aristocracy, who took another man mon had furnished them with an indemnifying bond that they consented to act as figureheads. It is a sad and disgraceful story, this one of the St. Louis Jockey and Trotting Club, and has placed the city in a position towards horsemen from which it will never recover, unless a track is built by men of known honor. INSIDER. TRACK TALK.

Point Breeze Park, Philadelphia, is for rent. The name of the racehorse Jim Bell has been John Splan leaves this afternoon for an Eastern trip, and will be absent about a week. W. H. Doble, Sr., will drive Hambletonian Mambrino, record 2:214, this year, and is now jog-ging him at Philadelphia.

Miser, the 3-year-old brother to Spendthrift, is blind, and will not be sent to England with the Allen Atchison, who was expelled last year by the South Carolina Jockey Club, has been reinstated by that organization.

stated by that organization.

The program for the summer trotting meeting here is being made out by Messrs. Bemis & Hall, and will be the best one of the year.

Budd Doble has assumed charge of the bar and billiard-room in the Baldwin House, San Francisco, and will not come East this year.

Among the visitors at Splan's Exchange last week was Mr. Steele, of Milwaukee, owner and driver of the celebrated trotting gelding Smoky Hill.

Mattie Lyle, record 2:28, an old-time trotter that John Turner steered for several seasons, foated Feb. 25 a gray colt, by Hambletonian Mambrino, record 2:214.

W. H. Crawford went to Pennsylvania last

W. H. Crawford went to Pennsylvania last week to look at his favorit, Lew Scott, and re-turned somewhat under the weather. He will be out again in a few days. be out again in a few days.

Mr. R. C. Pate, owner of Katle Middleton, Lucille, Green Charley, and the famous pacingmare Mattle Hunter, was in Chicago last Thursday and Friday.

Dr. Fritz, of this city, recently purchased in Richmond, Ind., a 4-year-old black colt called Negro Boy, paying $800 for him. The youngster is reported to have considerable speed, and will be driven on the road.

There will be considerable clashing of dates

There will be considerable clashing of dates between Western Associations this year. The latest one reported is between Columbus, O., and Cincinnati,—the meetings at both places being advertised for July 5 to 0, inclusive. Mr. Thomas H. Brown, of the Novelty Carriage Works, 333 State street, now has on exhibition there three of his celebrated sulkies, which are sold to ex-Gov. Stanford, of California, and will soon be shipped to him. A look at them is well worth a visit to the Novelty Works.

Mr. Daniel Creamer, of New York, who has been in Europe the greater part of the past two years engaged in the sale of American horses, is now in Chicago, and will make his head-quarters here for some months, buying horses from this market and shipping them to New York.

Mr. William Emmett, of the Academy of Mu-sic, this city, will have a stable of trotters next season headed by the roan mare Myrtle, record 2:40, that was a good second in 2:22% at Saginaw last season. Mr. Emmett expects to carry off his share of the cake at the big meetings next summer.

George B. Daniels and Fred, the famous team driven on the road by the late Gen. Brisbin, of Newark, N. J., will be sold at auction in New York by C. W. Barker, next Tuesday. Daniels has a record of 2:24, and Fred is considered his equal. There is no doubt that this team was the fastest pair in the East, with the possible exception of Mr. Vanderbilt's Small Hopes and Doctor Lewis.

Waverly, who died in 1878, at the early age of 8 years, had a number of first-class performers out last year, considering the limited chance allowed him in the stud. The winners of his get included Mistake, Wallenstein, Aueolus, Strathmore, Jim Beck, Kinkora, Sir Joseph Hawley, Homadam, Kinkead, Wayfarer, Wave o' Light, and Stilton. Mistake and Wallenstein are in Burope, members of Mr. Lorillard's stable.

At a recent meeting of the Edinburg Photographic Society no interesting lecture was given by Mr. W. H. Davies on "Rapid Studies from Nature," during which he exhibited instantaneous photographs of the horse in motion produced in California. The lecturer, after complimenting the American photographer who took these remarkable pictures, added: "I may mention that the general speed of a fast trotting-horse is about two and a half miles a minute."

Col. John W. Conley, who has made Chicago his home for the past, three years, has about concluded to locate for the future in the Blue Grass Region of Kentucky, and eargage in the breeding of trotters. At present he has one of the choicest collections of broodmares in the country, and with them for a foundation can hardly fail of success. First on the list is the dam of Santa Claus & yearling brother to Santa Claus at her side, and will soon fosi to Magic, the sire of Postboy, record 2:234, after which she will be breed to famous mare Clementine, record 2:2. She is now in Chicago, but will soon be shipped to Kentucky and bred to Strathmore. Chicago Maidrecord 2:25. is third on the list. She will be bred to Strathmore. Her dam, a black mare by Black Slasher. that Col. Conley recently purchased in Kansas, whither she was taken from lilinois, will be bred to Von Arnim, by Sentine! record 2:22. Mary Coleman, by Black Donald a full brother to Joe Hooker, the sire of Maud Macey, will be bred to Contractor; and Adelaide, by Gray's Mambrino, to Egbert. Mary Coleman and Adelaide are in foal to Strathmore.

Last June Jerry Monroe, of this city, paid $3,800 for the gray gelding Charley Ford, the horse then having a record of 2:34. With his success as a trotter last summer the readers of this paper are familiar, and, of course, the animal's value was greatly enhanced thereby. Last Tuesday a New York gentleman stepped into Mouroe's place and offered him $12,000 cash for Ford. It was at once refused, which shows there is one man in Chicago that considers a first-class trotter good property to keep.

The announcement that Mr. O. B. Hildreth, of Newton, Kas., has purchased of Messrs. Runnels and Vance, same place, a half interest in the thoroughbred stallion Astrai, brings to mind the fact that he was the best 2-year-old of his year (1873), when he started three times, winning each event in fast time. At Lexington, Sept. 9, in the Colt Stakes, three-quarters of a mile, he led home Judge Pryor, Big Fellow, Ozark, Pat Dolan, and Count La Grauge in 1:194, and at the same meeting, three days later, won the Colt and Filly Stakes, one mile, in 1:442, the fastest race ever run by a 2-year-old up to that time. He also won the Young America Stakes No. 2 at Nashville that fail. He was by Asteroid, and his dam was Laura White, the dam of Alice Ward, etc.

The Sportemen publishes a very interesting article concerning the famous Hungarian mare tiole concerning the Goodwood Cup, which she won easily, her opponents being Lady Golightly and Payreant. For the pa cip, April 20: Great Metropolitan Stakes, April 21; City and Suburban, April 22; Chester Cup, May 8.

"Bleys," of Bell's Life, has the following to say in the last number of that paper concerning the spring handicaps: "The spring handicaps are beginning to cause business at the clubs, and the opinion I expressed last week relative to Parole's chance for the Lincolnshire Handicap is indorsed by the market, the American horse being now first favoritat 100 to 8. The Newmarket talent seem divided as to the likelihood of his carrying off the great handicap on Charholme, and by some it is maintained that he will not be sufficiently ripe by the 17th of March. Amongst those who entertain this opinion are some good judges, but I shall not abandon faith in the horse without greater cause than exists at present to suspect that he may not strip so fit as some of his rivals. Brigita has been in steady demand during the week, and should certainly cut a good figure, even if she fails to quite puil through, and no one will wonder at seeing the useful Fiddlestring in the list of horses that have been backed. News comes from Richmond that Robbie Burns has wintered very well, and it is hardly necessary to remind readers of Bell that I have a high opinion of this horse's speed, and do not doubt that, if it is determined to run him at Lincoln, he will carry his big weight with every credit. Word comes to me from the north also that Middleham will send a dangerous horse to run for the Lincoln Handicap,—the least likely one to be fancied by the public, it may be added, of the lot trained on the famous moor. The City and Suburban has not yet commanded much attention, but since last week Master Kildare, Victor Chief, and Japonica have found some friends, Just as I expected would be the case. So has the Cambridgeshire disappointment, Leoville, whilst the only 3-year-old whose name has been mentioned is Toastmaster. CHICAGO'S WATER SUPPLY.

A Substitute for Pumping-Works.
To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune.

I desire to make one that may aid in devising a plan for creating a flow through the canal at Bridgeport as a substitute for pumping-works. If my suggestions are impracticable, I hope that I may have some reasons given. A few years ago I was troubled with water in a fly-wheel pit to such an extent as to necessitate the stopping of my engine and entire machinery until it could be removed, and I did not find relief until after I had placed a steam syphon in the pit, which forever after kept the pit clear of water, with only a nominal expenditure of steam. It is true that only a one and one-fourth inch pipe was employed, which required only a very small amount of steam to produce the necessary vacuum. Now, my suggestion is, Why cannot there be a series of syphons placed in the river at the locks, of as large a size as may be expedient, and as many of them as may be necessary to produce the desired outflow from the river? There is no doubt but what they will do the work. The great question to be considered will be the expenditure of steam, which may exceed that required to run regular pumps. But by this system no machinery is required beyond sufficient boiler capacity for generating steam. Should a steam syphon be regarded as too expensive, my opinion is that a water syphon will do the same work, if not subject to the same objections as steam from an expensive standpoint. I should like to hear from some of our more scientific men on this subject, which comes more as a query than a suggestion from a friend of the

Pure Water.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribuna.

CRICAGO, March 5.—The following is a copy of an open letter to John C. Ambler, Secretary of the Citizens' Association:

DEAR FRIEND: I notice the various suggestions and correspondence on the water supply and drainage are getting more numerous and yet more inoperative and confused. Why do not the Citizens' Association recommend the adoption of Mr. Brown's sensible and only practicable method, which is:

First.—The selection of a suitable position not dess than thirty miles from the city, with an altitude of 100 or 150 feet above the lake surface. Then construct thereon there or four reservoirs with an area of three or four acres each, and provide sufficient pumping apparatus to supply not only pure water at all future times to the city, but to flush the sewers also, and carry off the foul accumulations.

Second—To construct all the sewers so as to discharge in Lake Michigan, thereby easily getting rid of the elephant which so many wise heads and sage correspondents seem to think the city authorities have gotten on their hands.

Third.—Let the ship-canal project go by the board or be attended to by those who believe in its usefulness or feasibility. All of which, however, I think, after due and mature consideration, will end like unto that of the Michiganders who, in 187, in surveying the route of a ship-canal from Saginaw to Grand Haven, namely: in smoke and the sinking of $50,000 or $80,000.

Finally, that, if the city corporation do not chose to risk, or to incur the necessary expense as above set forth, parties can be had that will do it without the asking of a dollar in bonds or greenbacks, but rather take a tenure on the water tax for a hundred years.

Therefore, let the Citizens' Association act energetically. Let not its deliberations be all talk and no cider, but rather remember the sage provert that the gods will help those who endeavor to help themselves. Yours most respectfully,

How to Purify the Water.
To the Editor of The Chicago Tribuns.
CHICAGO, March 6.—From the many communications received by you and by the Citizens' Association, it follows clearly that the only immesociation, it follows clearly that the only immediate remedy to the filthy condition of the river is the use of pumps located at Bridgeport. It is also understood that this is only a makeshift, to be abandoned as soon as possible. I doubt not those pumps will relieve us to some extent. As for the denizens of the canal shore, they will derive from them less benefit than Dr. Rauch anticipates. Your "Prominent Microscopist" to the contrary notwithstanding, the wholesomeness, alteration, and corruption of water are intimately related to the presence or absence of dissolved oxygen. The proportion of that gas in a given sample gives the exact measure of its hygienic value,—that is, of the influure of its hygienic value,—that is, of the influence, good or bad, it will have on those who drink it. Numerous experiments show that the amount normally held in by running water (one part in a hundred) gradually decreases, being absorbed, as it is, by organic matter. It totally disappears from foul and putrid water. If by increasing the current towards the canal we call into the river the lake water, truly a more rapid oxydation of the organic matter from the sewers will take place; but that will go on vary slowly, and, I am afraid, Dr. Rauch overestimates it. Let us take Paris for example. The sewers of that city empty daily into the Seine ure of its hygi

ers will take place; but that will go on vary slowly, and, I am afraid, Dr. Rauch overestimates it. Let us take Paris for example. The sewers of that city empty daily into the Seine something like 550 tons of solid matter held in suspension, besides an equal amount of dissolved organic matter. Truly the population of Chicago is much smaller than that of the Capital of France, but on the other hand packing, slaughtering, distilling, and brewing are carried here on a much larger scale, which makes up for the other deficiency. Now, the Seine water, above Paris, contains 94, parts of oxygen din a 1,000. At Marly (below Paris) that proportion is reduced to 1.91; Maisons gives 3.74; Poissy, 6.12; and at Mantes (seventy-five miles below) it rises to nearly 9; finally the proportion is normal against Vernon, which is farther down. Thus, although a great deal more water passes in a given time under the bridges of Paris than under ours, the natural purification is completed only about eighty miles from the mouth of the main sewer.

Judging from the above, is it not to be expected that Peoria will get a notable proportion of our sewage?

But it is possible (and due regard for the health of our neighbors demands it) to accelerate that oxydation in a large measure. A few months ago I had to perform the unpleasant task of analyzing the water from the Stock-Yards main sewer where it leaves that place. It occurred to me then that much discomfort and costly litigation would be avoided if that sewer were regularly disinfected before it empties into the city. I thought, and am convinced now, that a reservoir built near its terminus, where the sewage would be thoroughly mixed with an amount of chloride of lime, to be estimated by experiment, would greatly do away with the constantly recurring trouble between the Health Department and the packers. Chloride of lime is one of the most efficient disinfectants, too much neglected these last ten years by our successive Bourds of Health; by the ton it would be cheap. The packers, rendere

Again, obtain some sastric lutee pumped from a healthy stomach, and maintained at bloodheat, and put the "wigglers" into it and observe the result. If all die, then we may conclude that they die in us, and start dain, digest. These are experiments which we cannot try for ourselves, but would like to have really by the proper parties, so that we may be enlightened.

All this would either a great ghost that is stalking abroad, or prove it to be a real mischief-working de It may be said that it water has the old istics of what is found in swamps we know it is injurious; but if swamp water be injurious; but if swamp water be injurious; but if swamp water be injurious that it is injurious; but if swamp water be injurious and the order of the said in t citic knowledge is what we crave at the hand of the scientist.

As to sediment or mud in the water, it is not possible to find lake or river water that does not contain some dust, for dust is wated in the mand alights on water; and, further, it is well known that water-mains laid in a city contain more and more sediment, which from time to time is flushed out by rapid motion, especially at the time of fires, when much is suddenly drawn. We live in the midst of dust and may partake of it. We have it in our animal and vegetable food, for all food contains earthy matter and chemical salts such as we find in its absence when we burn it. What is more, we curselves need some in our own composition. I do not as for this reason that we should become earth enters or earth drinkers, as it is only a minute proportion that is necessary, but it is not so opposed to our mature and structure as to be alarming, as will it breed fever, etc., if it be mere earthy sediment.

will it breed fever, etc., if it be mere suring sediment.

As to gases producing disease, I know of mevidence whatever to that effect. Carbonic sed gas, which exists in excess of the normal proportion in soda-water factories and other place, has never been indicted for any offense sainst health; our common coal gas escapes a good deal at gas-works, but seems to burt no one, and we do not hear of chemists suffering from gase in their laboratories. It is time for scientific men to determine such matters definitly, so that we, the public, may be guided aright. That there are causes of disease we'all believe, and it is our 'impression that what we call filth is not wholesome; but as to what it in filth that produces a bad effect upon some of us, we would like to have explained as far as modern knowledge goes. Bad odors we remain as possibly a clew to what is injurious, and jet there is much that puzzles us in this too, far most people visiting the great Stock-Yards and slaughter-houses find odors evil enough to indicate the possibility of all the diseases in a medical dictionary, and still find a host of sthictioner. Definit and exact knowledge is what we may become excited, and in the chase after causes of disease may go far astray, missing what is deadly, while we pursue with hue and cry what may be absolutely harmless.

Purity of Our Water-Supply.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribuna.

Chicago, March & — Desiring to correct one or more erromeous impressions, I again ask space in your paper. Certainly Prof. Delafontains is entitled to an opinion, but neither arbitrary nor to the disqualification of the opinions of others. The Professor says: "Animal life is represented only by those exceedingly lively but harmies crustaceans, the cyclops. A most careful survey of three different specimens failed to bring under my gaze a single infusoria, whother stalked (vorticella), flagellate (mouns), or ellate (paramecium), etc. Nor was I more successful in finding bacteria." Now, the importance of these assertions is made apparant in recalling to mind the defense once made by an Iranan, who said, "An' faith, yer oner, an it's only thra of thim fellers what same me do it, air surs an' I've lieven min who'll swear that I niver did it all, at all." I say the importance of the Professor's assertion in reference to the presence of animal life is thus made apparent. Jan. 23, in a single microscopic field of Later Michigan water, drawn from my hydrant, I counted chirty-three vorticella convallaria. On the same date in as other field of the same water I counted cleven paramedi aurelia. Before and since that time I have repeatedly seen not only these specified forms of infusorial life, but I have seen many specimens of the amedia diffinens, the actine phrys sol, the vorticella convallaria, and v. microstoma, the mouns lens the rotter motes quadricornis, and the mouns lens the rotter delarity and the four-horned rottler (notes quadricornis), and the auguillula fluvisities of the latter (filaria), I found il we speciment in conflect. These movements in Southern stocks indicate that the Louisville & Nashville consolidation has not exhausted the possibilities of combination in the Southern railway world. There will be interesting developments in this direction. Manhattan made an upward move of 2%, but the usual legislative rumor to account for the rise was not forthcoming. Lake Erie & Western was active but within narrow limits. ive, but within narrow limits, and 36, and closed with a gain %, at 36%. The Directors of the Alton them. Another sharp advance of 2%, to 61, was made by Pacific Mail, which is already declaring made by Pacific Mail, which is already declaring dividends to speculators out of the profits of the business of the Isthmus Canal. San Francisco was dealt in more freely than for some ast, and the second preferred was up 14. to 60. Coal stocks were dull. A heavy short interest is said to be still uncovered in them. Hudson was sold down to 81½, but recovered to 83. Large purchases of this for investment are reported. Lackawanna flucturated between 93½ and 92½, closing where it did the day before, at 92½. Morris & Essex lost ½, to 108½. Reading gained ½, to 11½. The recent rise in Reading was due altogether to New York purchases, which got no seconding in the Philadelphia market. Jersey Central gained ½, to 87%. The favorable effect on Iron Mountain of the return of the road to the stockholders seems to have been discounted. the stockholders seems to have been discounted. The quarrel between the Western Union and the American Union is becoming a more serious matter than was at first believed sible. Vanderbilt went to Baltimore to bring rrett to his side, but failed to do so. Hard personal feeling between Vanderbilt and Gould is arising out of the matter. If they fight, the stock market will be their battle-field, and the heaviest losses will as usual be borne by the privates, and not by the Generals. Keene is on rbilt's side; they are bulls. Gould and ears. The near future of the stock market is likely to be very interesting. It was Gould who planned and executed Black Friday. He and his partner, Russell Sage, are said to have borrowed $20,000,000 on time, and to have loaned it out again on call, with the expectation of suddenly calling it in again and creating panic. NEW YORK.

March 6.—The market throughout the whole day has manifested a curious irregularity.* At the opening there was much apparent weakness and uneasiness. At noon the market had become very strong, with some remarkable advances, Ohio & Mississippi going up from 42 to 44½, and Pacific Mail from 53½ to 61½, afterwards advancing another point later in the day. The coal stocks throughout the day did not advance, but they showed great steadiness, a fact due to the highly encouraging reports of the present and prospective condition of the coal trade. It is insisted that these companies now have before them the beginning of an era of prosperity which only the most gross and crimmal mismanagement on the part of their Directors can interrupt. The reports that have been circulated within the last few days that the Louisville & Nashville people have been heavy purchasers of Ohio & Mississippi have not been contradicted; in fact, they were quite true. Under the influence of these purchases, and the confidence inspired by them, the stock to-day rose about 10 per cent, and reached the highest point it has touched. It is clear that the great lines from the Guif to the Northwest and Southwest are fast becoming valuable properties. The extraordinary strength shown by Chicago, St. Louis & New Orleans attracts the attention of speculative capitalists to the property, which is believed to have a brilliant future before it. The enhanced prosent and prospective value of this property has added to the value of the assets of the Illinois Central Company. The Company owns some $12,000,000 in the Chicago, St. Louis & New Orleans Railroad. On the strength of its increased earnings and the enhanced value of its reserves, the Hillinois Central Company. The Company owns some $12,000,000 in the Chicago, St. Louis & New Orleans its dividends from 6 to 8 per cent.

Chesapeake & Ohio was strong, and advanced sharply on the pending negotiations to make it a through trunk line, to the West. Pacific Mail, Ohio & Mississippi, and Mobile & Ohio were conspicuous in the upward movement. Mobile & Ohio rose on large sales, induced by the official report that an extension is being constructed from Cairo to Columbus, giving it connection with the Northern New England and Northwest system. It was also reported that the road is about to be consolidated with the Louisville & Nashville Road. Quicksilver common rose 1/8, and preferred 7/4 per cent. Louisville & Nashville rose 2/4, to 162, fell off to 158, and closed at 158/4. Nashville & Chattanooga rose to 125, and closed at 122.

Beath After Terrible Suffering. Another forcible argument in favor of killing, muzzling, or in some other way effectually tak-ing care of the dogs, was given yesterday when Charles Alsberge, a French tailor at No. 191 Larrabee street, died in all the indescribable horror of hydrophobia. A daughter of the victim re-ported to the Chicago Avenue Police Station the sand cubic feet of this intensely cond air into the sur-strata of the air, he would not induce copious showers.

The late Prof. Espy strongly contended for many years that the meteorological effect of great fires was to produce rain if the atmosphere was calm and the dew-point high. The theory was put to a severe test during the long, blighting drought in the autumn of 1871, when the Chicago conflagration occurred; the intense drought was broken by a heavy rain which succeeded the fire. Many instances of similar apparent effect of combustion have been cited. But for economic reasons the Espy theory has been generally dismissed as impracticable. The new pian of rain-making by explosions is, however, free from the objection of excessive cost for the agency employed. The investment in a small quantity of explosive material and cheap skeleton balloons would be well made if, by such means, the severe droughts of midsummer and fall could be measurably mitigated. But if the experiments are undertaken which Gen. Ruggies suggests, they should be conducted under the direction of skilled meteorologists and Signal-Service officers and observers.

How the State's Salaried Agent

The Governor Has Been Duly Notified, but Takes No Action.

Does His Work There.

A TRIBUNE reporter yesterday called upon Mr. John G. Shortall, the President of the Illinois Humane Society, and had some conversation with him upon the subject of the cruelties practiced at the Stock-Yards as exposed in the report in The Tribune of yesterday. What he wanted to get at more particularly was the reason why the Society did not seem to be as successful in the suppression of cruelty as formerly. Mr. Shortall stated that he thought he could satisfy his visitor upon that score, but that before he did so he would like to call his attention to ONE OR TWO ADDITIONAL PACTS

ONE OR TWO ADDITIONAL PACTS connected with the crueities which had come to his knowledge. In the first place, he asserted that he had received perfectly trustworthy information to the effect that the very grosser crueities which the Society had to contend with when it first started on its humane mission were being practiced in isolated cases. He had heard of the eyes of obstinate cattle being gouged out quite recently, and also of animals being prodded in the tenderest parts by their brutal drivers.
There was also another practice in which the Western shippers and the Chicago commission men combine which is horribly cruel.
It is the custom of the shippers to give instructions that the cattle be allowed no water on their journey, and that what little feed is given them be generally salted so that the thirst of the animals may be still further increased.
The object of this is that the beasts on their arrival at the yards may gorge themselves with the water which is then provided ad libitum, and thus increase greatly their selling weight. It had been frequently claimed by commission men that by this means animals not only made up for the loss of weight arising from the long ride, but in many cases weighed more than when they started. This is hard on the purchasers, who are thus tricked into paying from $1 to $5 for a distended stomach full of water, but it is still harder of the beasts, which, in many cases, lie down never to rise after their watery gorge, and have even occasionally been known to burst from the excess of their unnatural potations.

in the matter. When, in September last, the State Agent, Mr. McDonald, who had always acted in accord with the Humane Society, which had been instrumental in his appointment to the position, resigned his place, Mr. Shortall sent a notification of the fact to the Governor, requesting that no one would be appointed except a person recommended by the Illinois Humane Society. In response to this, Mr. Shortall received a letter from Gov. Cullom, who stated that he had not been advised of Mr. McDonaid's resignation, but that he would appoint a competent man to fill his place, and would receive suggestions from the Society. A day or two afterwards Mr. Shortall made a formal application on behalf of the Society for the appointment to the vacant position of the Society's City Agent. No answer was received to this,
and a few days later Mr. Marquart, the present State Agent, called at the office of the Humane Society and explained that he had been appointed. This was in the early part of October.
The Society felt that its application had not been fairly or even courteously treated, but rested in the hope that, though they had not succeeded in securing the appointment of a man who, they knew, could do the work satisfactorily, the new-comer might prove to be the right man in the right place. After a couple of months had passed, during which complaints were made to the Society that State-Agent Marquart was not doing his duty, Mr. Shortall instructed City-Agent Dudley to visit the yards which were being practiced at the yards. In the answers received to the letters the Governor expressed himself as perfectly satisfied with Mr. Marquart, who, he believed from information received, was a more efficient man than had previously been engaged in the work. He said that he could take no action in the matter until specific charges against Marquart and a request for his removal had been forwarded him. The Society thereupon met and passed a resolution requesting Marquart's removal, which they forwarded to the Governor, together with the sworn statement made by City-Agent Dudley.

Mr. Shortall stated, in conclusion, that the Society, even should the Governor, in spite of their protests and of The Transune's exposure of the crueities, persist in retaining Mr. Marquart as State Agent, will not abandon the good work of humanity, but will raise from the merchants of Chicago a subscription to provide for the salary of a man to do the work at the yards which the present State Agent is paid by the taxpayers to do, but fails to perform.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribuna.
CHICAGO, March & The article in to-day

CHICAGO, March &—The article in to-day's TRIBUNE about the cruelties practiced at the Stock-Yards in slaughtering cattle and hogs raises a throb of sympathy in my heart and in all of my family. I do hope you will lend your powerful aid and assistance in the cause of putting a stop to such cruelty. Please always remember the poor animals are dumb and cannot plead their own cause. Please plead it for them.

PROSECUTE THE WRETCHES.

To the Editor of The Chicago Tribuna.
CHICAGO, March 6.—The article in this day's TRIBUNE concerning the terrible cruelties practiced in the slaughtering of hogs and cattle at the Stock-Yards cannot fail to attract deep and wide attention.

the Stock-Yards cannot fail to attract deep and wide attention.

I am one of the many who contribute each year more or less money to the Illinois Humane Society.

I have done so most gladly, feeling that the cause is a most worthy and noble one, and that the officers of that Society were doing, at least in this city and vicinity, a vast amount of good.

While I do not desire to cast blame, if unnecessary, upon the officers of that Society it does in this city and vicinity, a vast amount of good.

While I do not desire to cast blame, if unnecessary, upon the officers of that Society, it does seem that more active and energetic measures ought to be pursued in diminishing the cupelty detailed by your reporter at the Steck-Yards, and the numerous cases of crueity witnessed every day in this city.

If I understand our laws on this subject correctly, all animals, in the State of Illinois at least, whether horses, cattle, hogs, and even dogs and cats, have certain rights which their owners, and all others, are bound to respect.

Ownership does not carry with it the right to torture or commit unnecessary crueity. I have frequently remonstrated with men who were cruelly beating their horses, or driving them when crippled and wholly unfit for duty. In nine cases out of ten their answer or excuse will be that the animal is their property, and that they have a right to do what they like to it. Such was the answer made a few months since by an ignorant Bohemian on the West Side, who deliberately punched out the eyes of his poor old horse to keep him (so he explained) from straying away from a vacant lot where he had turned him out to pasture. The Justice before whom the man was brought took a different view of the matter, and caused the wretch to be sent to juil for the offense.

A few more vigorous prosecutions of such outrages would cause our State enactments on this subject to be better observed.

The writer, in a wide and extended experience and observation in this and foreign countries, has invariably discovered that those nations or those individuals who systematically and constantly treat animals with crueity are of a lower type and grade in intelligence and morality than those who are more merciful.

It does seem like a severe commentary upon our boasted intelligence that right here, in the most advanced and progressive city of this or any other land, that sickening crueities, only fit for Central Africa, should be allowed to be committed in the slaughtering

English Paper.

Of late years the Kaiser has become popular. He has a kind word and aims for any one who wants them, when there is a flood or a fire of more than ordinary destructiveness. He puts his grudges against the Liberal party into his pocket, and does not set his familiars to rant at them in society. Perhaps he is even with them in his own way, and Radicals are not half so much in fashion in Vienna as at Berlin. It is said he has the royal fault of vindictiveness, and that he never forgives; but, if so, he keeps his own counsel with praiseworthy discretion and strikes sliently. He enjoys the exercise of his imperial functions, and has no other amusement or occupation than those which belong to his office. He is neither aglutton nor a toper, nor given to licentiousness. He has no fancy for that wasteful sort of prodigality which is called magnificence. Privately, therefore, he is thought to be rich, and Emperors have been so often sent upon their travels that perhaps he may hold some foreign investments; but he has never been accused of rapacity, and his personal wants are few. He used to be very fond of playgoing, but he was never mixed up much with actors or actresses. He has many of the finest saddle-horses in Europe; but he has never gone on the turf like Napoleon III., who rode badly, and George IV., who could hardly ride at all. His household is carefully and even parsimoniously managed. He will never want money, and so there is not much chance of his having noisy altereations with his subjects.

A Popular Treatise on the Skin in Health and Disease.

A PARE skin, with a wholesome complexion and inxuriant tresses, is the secret of personal seasty. It indicates the purity of the system, he perfect mechanism of the interior. The resence of hereditary blood poison or humor is res manifested on the skin; on the other hand, he healthy skin, soft, pliant, and beautiful, not any affords the utmost gratification to the posessor, but shows to the world the purity of the lood and the regularity of the bodily functions. A healthy system, with physical beauty and a sir exterior, is an inheritance never too highly alued. Whatever tends to their restoration, then injured or in jeopardy from disease, or cant of care, is worthy of careful consideration. The importance of health is self-evident; he power, force, and attraction of beauty is too pparent for ridicule; its preservation is a subsect of vital importance.

HEREDITARY BLOOD POISON al weaknesses and infirmities, idiocy and ity. It enlarges the glands of the throat, does the fine membranes, and impairs the of smell and taste. It destroys the lungs as them with tuberculous scoretions. It eats the coating of the stomach, enlarges the clogs the kidneys, and preys on the whole entary canal. The muscles if contracts and transpowerless with rheumatism, while the tions of the joints, abnormal from its, cause the painful and direful gout. No y in the land is too humble to escape its res; no blood in America so blue and so as to be free from anxious care for its presion.

Yith a view to impart some important and sful information on the construction and servation of the skin and hair, and on the aper treatment of them when diseased, as il as to trace the source of skin diseases to a lated condition of the blood, the results of a a lated condition of the blood, the results of a lettical and thorough investigation of the sub-thave been reduced to a popular form. A did and overreling Providence has decreed tail the ills the human flesh is heir to can be evented, alleviated, or banished by the ingesty or science of man.

ANATOMY OF THE SKIN.

ANATOMY OF THE SKIN.

The skin is a membrane composed of two layers, covering the entire person. The outer layer is the scarf skin, or cuticle; the inner is the true skin, or cutic zera. These layers differ in their structure and usess.

The scarf skin, called also cuticle or epiderinis, a a thin membrane, partially transparent, like a ain shaving of horn. Having no blood-vessels in nerves, and consequently no feeling, it appears to be a simple covering to protect the true skin from injury by external agents. It is thickest on those parts most exposed to friction.

The scarf skin is the production of the true skin, an exudation from it in the form of a fluid, which is spread out as a thin layer, and dries up into flattened scales. The cuticle is composed chiefly of these scales, and is constantly being rubbed off as scurf, while new layers are forming underneath.

The lower, softer, and newly-formed layers of the scarf skin are the seat of color. In this part the cells contain a pigment, incorporated with the elementary granules, which gives to the various races their several shades of color. The depth of the hue is dependent on the amount of this coloring matter.

The true skin, which is called the cutis eera, or epth of the hue is dependent on the kindula of the coloring matter.

The true skin, which is called the cutis vera, or brium, is a kind of web woven into small fibres ollected into strands. In the upper portion the reb is fine and firm, but grows coarser below, lonnected with its under surface is a fibrous reb, in which the fat is deposited. Upon its up-per surface is the sonsitive or papillary layer, composed of blood-vessels and nerves doubled into loops, which give little prominences, called populae. Our illustration very well describes our meaning.

ARTERIES, VEINS, AND NERVES
are spread over the true skin in great numbers,
—so profusely that is impossible to find a place
unguarded with the point of a needle.

The lymphatics are very numerous in the skin, besides which there are oil glands and tubes and sweat glands and tubes. The oil glands are imbedded in the skin, and communicate with the surface by small tubes. They are the most abundant on the face, nose, and ears. The sweat apparatus consists of small tubes, which pass through the true skin, and terminate in meshes at the bottom, where it coils upon itself into a kind of bundle, called the perspiratory gland.
The hair and nails are appendages of the skin.
Our illustration at the head of this article gives a section of skin from the palm of the hand and highly magnified.

the fact that either in a diseased condition affects the other.

Beauty and health are dependent upon a healthy condition of the skin. The seat of cutaneous diseases, the great enemy of both, is located in the derma, or true skin, being seated in the glands, tubes, vessels, or fibres.

These glands perform an important part in the animal economy, for they secrete and produce the fatty substance which renders the skin and hair se soft and pilant. From these glands the natural oil necessary for health and comfort is conducted to tha surface through minute tubes. When the skin is healthy, these little vessels are always at work and constantly responding to the demands made upon them. They are especially abundant on the face and in the hair, supplying Nature's ointment. A free use of water and a suitable soap, which will hereafter be referred to, are most efficacious in keeping these organs in tone and working order and the skin free from blemish.

Another system of

GLANDS AND TUBES GLANDS AND TUBES
secrete the moisture of the body, and are called the perspiratory or sweat-glands. Their peculiar function, called sweating or perspiration, in the purification of the system and of the blood, is most essential to the general health. So important is the free and perfect action of these glands and tubes in the preservation of the health, that particuisr attention to them is surely rewarded by an improved physical condition. During one day the skin will discharge over two pounds of secretions, and will absorb almost an equal amount from the moisture in the atmesphere.
The daily occupation, want of cleanliness, and various other causes produce humorous diseases of these vessels and tubes. Their contents, instead of flowing freely, become hard, and the tubes are closed, or the action of the glands is unnaturally stimulated; hence ensue many outaneous diseases.

DISFASES OF THE SKIN.

DISEASES OF THE SKIN.

Although but one organ of the body, the skin is so complex a structure and so entirely dependent for beauty and health upon the purity of the blood and other fluids of the body, that it offers a sufficient field for the life-study of physicians, and it is a pleasure to record the fact that many eminent names are embalmed in medical literature for faithful service in this department of science.

Skin diseases have been divided into two classes, local and constitutional, or diseases which affect the general structure of the skin, implicating all the issues which affect the special structure of the skin, selecting as their scat either the vessels, glands, nerves, papilize, or special organs that produce the hair or nails. Those diseases which affect the general structure of the skin are the effects of blood poison, either acquired or inherited. This applies to the whole class of diseases, excepting scables, parasitic animals, burns, scalds, frost-bite, and chilbiains. It includes erythema in its various forms, dandruf, erysipelas, rush, nettle rash, summer rash, tooth rash, wildfire rash, purito, letter, psoriasis, scale, shingles, ringworm, boil, sty, carbundle, scurvy,—all traceable to blood poisons. Under this head comes lepra, lupus, scrofula, tubercles, ulcers, leprosy, sphilodermata, measles, scarict-fever, small-pox, variola, varioloid, and chicken-pox. The above are constitutional diseases and are deep-scated in the blood, but are the cusmics of beauty.

The local diseases of the skin are scated in the vessels, the herves, the tubes, and the various glands, and are as numerous, if not so well known, dreaded, and fatal as the above. Included in this list are warts, callosities, corns, various veins, moles, albino skin, piebald skin, tumors, tubercles, baldness, scald-head, and deformed nails. The of skin diseases, from the nature of the trouble, has been constitutional and local, and has varied with the times, and the knowledge, experience, and judgment of the physician or chariatan who has had the case in charge.

The treatment is by no means uniform, even by physicians of the same school. Some apply remedies externally, some internally. In one respect there is remarkable unanimity among all practitioners of medicine,—viz., that the only cure in their Pharmacopæia is the use of the most deadly drugs and mineral poisens.

A distinguished authority, who has made a specialty of cutaneous diseases, states that in their treatment three remedies with specific properties are needed: First, an internal remedy possessing cathartic, tonic, and alterative properties, which will enable it to expel through the natural purifiers of the body.—viz., the lungs, liver, kidneys, bowels, and skin, the constitutional poison which floats in the blood and circulating fluids of the body. Second, an external, unchangeable application of jelly consistence that may arrest inflammation or irritation and destroy fungus or parasitic growths; and, thirdly, an emollient and healing soap, free from caustic alkalies and trritating properties, for cleansing diseased surfaces, and partaking, in a milder form, the medicinal properties of the external application.

After eight years of scientific investigation, careful experiments, and patient stud, these three remedies have been discovered, and have met with a cordial reception from suffering humanity, from physicians, and hospitals wherever introduced.

met with a cordial reception from suffering hu-manity, from physicians, and hospitals wherever introduced.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Drug-gists, of Boston, a house long established and favorably known wherever American commerce has reached, are the parties to whom is due the credit of introducing to the world a discovery which has already accomplished so much and which promises so much.

(TETTER OF THE HAND.)

THESE GREAT REMEDIES are mostly composed of substances never before used in medicine, and the ciaim is just that they are a great medical discovery. After a thoroughly successful trial of their merit, it is our duty, as well as pleasure, to give to the public the results, hoping thereby to lessen, as far as in our power, the great suffering caused by the diseases under consideration.

the results, hoping thereby to lessen, as far as in our power, the great suffering caused by the diseases under consideration.

THE FIRST

of these remedies has been appropriately named Cuticura, from cutis, the skim, and cura, a cure. It possesses wonderful curative properties, and may be applied to raw and inflamed surfaces without irritation or pain. It will soothe and heal the most violent inflammation, allay itching, the torture of a lifetime, and destroy fungus or unnatural growths on the skin and scalp. It will heal the ulcer and help the discharging wound to close up; it will cleanse and purify the pores of the skin and restore to healthy and regular action the glands, tubes, and vessels. It is a fresh, fragrant, soothing, and healing jelly, which to be appreciated must be compared with the nauseous compounds which it supplants.

THE SECOND,

the Cuticura Medicinal Tollet Soap, receives its characteristic name from the remedy to which it owds its valuable healing and useful properties. It is free from caustic alkalies and is of a delicate, natural green color. Its emollient, soothing, and healing action is the same as Cuticura, in a modified form. Aside from its medicinal properties, it is more valued as a toilet, bath, and sa natural preventive of injury to the complexion and hands from the heats of summer and the chills of winter.

An ounce of perfection is nowhere rewarded with more pounds of cure than in the care of the skin, and no remedy or method is more appropriate than the Cuticura Soap, It dissolves away undue exudation of greasy matter from the oil glands which cauces the skin to shine, prevents clogging of the pores and tubes, and stimulates the circulation of the blood through the small blood vessels, giving color, freshness, and beauty to the complexion, amply repaying every moment of ozer.

This Soap is also specially prepared for shaving, and is called Cuticura Medicinal Shaving soap, and will be found of great value by gentermen suffering from tender, inflamed, or discussed skin.

Great Remedy is called the Cuticura Resolvent because of its intimate relation to Cuticura in the cure of skin and scalp diseases. Of all the remedies for the purification for the blood and circulating fluids, none approach in specific medical action the wonderful properties of the Resolvent. In forty minutes after taking the first dose it may be detected, by chemical analysis, in the sailva, sweat, fat, and blood, showing that it has entered the blood and circulating fluids, and made the entire circuit of the human labyrinth many times. Chemical tests show it to be present in the water with which the patient has bathed on rising in the morning, which proves conclusively that it has entered and become a part of the circulating fluids, enabling it to traverse every diseased ced, tube, and vessel upon the surface of the body.

But it does more than this. It is a powerful purifying agent, acting through the great purifiers of the body, the lungs, liver, kidneys, bowels, and skin. It neutralizes and resolves a way blood-poisons, caused by the virus of scrofula, cincer, canker, maiarial or contagious diseases. It destroys microscopic insects or parasites which infest the water and air of malariah regions, and breed many forms of skin diseases. It regulates the stomach and bowels, and porfects digestion so as to admit of a rapid increase of whol-some tissue and strength. Hence its power t. climinate from the system all the destructive elements that foster and maintain diseases of the blood, skin, and scalp. A noted physician says: "It is now nearly a year since I first publicity indorsed if forms of skin, scalp, and blood diseases with which I was acquainted. I have at this moment nothing to re-tract, and were it necessary to use stronger lan-guage, even at the risk of exceeding the bounds of professional etiquette, I should feel it my duty to do so." That these statements may not go forth uncorroborated, we append the follow-ing remarkable ource: LEPRA.

go forth uncorroborated, we append the following remarkable cures:

LEPRA.

I have been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some M. D.'s psoriasis, and others leprosy, commencing on my scalp, and, in spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skillful doctors, it slowly but surely extended, until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor and suffering intensely all the time. Every morning there could be nearly a dust-pan full of scales taken from the sheets on my bed, some of them half as large as the unvelope containing this letter. In the later part of winter my skin commenced cracking open. I want of everything, almost, that could be the spit of, without any relief. The 12th of June I started West, in hopes I could reach the Hot Springs. I reached Detroit, and was so low I thought I should have to go to the hospital, but finally got as far as Lansing, Mich., where I had a sister living. One Dr. — treated me about two weeks, but did me no good. All thought I had but a short time to live. I carnestly prayed to die. Cracked through the skin all over my back, across my ribs, arms, hands, limbs, feet badly swollen, toe-mils came off, finger-nails dead and hard as bone, hair dead, dry and lifeless as old straw. O, my God! how I did suffer. My sister, Mrs. E. H. Davis, had'a small part of a box of Cuticura in the house. She wouldn't give up: said, "We will try Cuticura." Some was applied on one hand and arm. Eureka' there was relief; stopped the terrible burning sensation from the word go. They immediately got the Resolvent, Cuticura, and Scap. I commenced by taking one tablespoonful of Resolvent three times a day, after meals; had a bath once a day, water about blood heat; used Cuticura Somp reely: applied Cuticura morning and evening. Result, returned to my home in just six weeks from the time I left, and my skin as smooth as this sheet of paper.

SCROFULOUS HUMOR. SCROFULOUS HUMOR.

The Hon. William Taylor, Boston, Mass., State Senstor of Massachusetts, perman antly cured of a humor of the face and scalp that had been treated unsuccessfully for twelve years, by many of Boston's best physicians, and most noted specialists, as well as European authorities. He says: "After the first two or three weeks' use of these remedies, I was greatly encouraged by a gradual lessening of the inflammation of a number of painfal sores. I carefully, faithfully, and cheerfully followed the directions to the letter, feeling each week nearer a cure, until at the present moment, after three months' use of CUTIOURA REMEDIES and twelve years of as constant suffering as was ever endured, I can say that I am sured and pronounce my case the most remarkable on record. I have been so elaied with my success that I have stopped men on the street who were afflicted and told them to get the CUTICURA REMEDIES and they would cure them. This is why I am so grateful to you, for I believe them to be the best and greatest discovery of the age, and that they will cure all who are suffering with these diseases."

ECZEMA.

LAW OFFICE OF CHAS. HOUGHTON, 17 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON, Feb. 28, 1878.—I feel it a duty to inform you, and through you all who are interested to know the fact, that a most disagreeable and obstinate case of Sait-Rheum, or Eczema, which has been under my personal observation from its first appearance to the present time,—about ten (10) years,—covering the greater portion of the patient's body and limbs with its peculiar irritating and itching seab, and to which all the known methods of treating such disease had been applied without benefit, has completely disappeared, leaving a clean and healthy skin, under the use of Cutioura. I can and do heartly advise all similarly afflicted to try the remedy which has been so effectual in this case. Very truly yours, CHAS. HOUGHTON.

ECZEMA RODENT. I have suffered over thirteen years with skin disease in my hands and limbs, causing constant irritation, depriving me of rest and attention to business. I sought many remedies here and elsewhere, also use of sulphur baths, without permanent cure Lagt May a physician called my disease Eczema Rodent; spots appeared on my hands, head, and face, eyes became much inhamed and granulated, causing at length impaired sight. Internal and external remedies were prescribed by a leading physician for six were prescribed by a leading physician for six months, was then introduced to another, and a consultation of several leading physicians was had, when a definite plan was decided upon, but all to no purpose. After following advice for four months without any permanent cure, I bought two bottles of CUTICHA RESOLVEST, two boxes of CUTICHA, and some SOAP, and can testify with great pleasure to the immediate effect they have produced in my case, resulting in a perfect cure. The physicians pronounced my case the most aggravated one that had ever come under their experience and practice. I recommend and highly indorse the CUTICHA REMEDIES. Yours truly,

SALT-RHEUM FOR A LIFETIME. SALT-RHEUM FOR A LIFETIME.

I have had a most wonderful cure of saltrheum. For seventeen years I suffered with salt-rheum; I had it on my head, face, neek, arms, and legs. I was not able to walk, only on my hands and knees, for one year. I have not been able to help myself for eight years. I tried hundreds of remedies; not one had the least effect. The doctors said my case was incurable.
So my parents tried everything that came along.
I saw the advertisement and concluded to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. The first box of CUTICURA brought the humor to the surface of my skin.
It would drop off as it came out, until now I am entirely well. All I can say is, I thank you most heartily for my cure. Any person who thinks this letter a fraud, let them write or come and see me, and find out for themselves.

Yours truly, WILL MODONALD.

IMPETIGO AND ECZEMA.

IMPETIGO AND ECZEMA. IMPETIGO AND ECZEMA.

It affords me pleasure to send you the following report of a remarkable cure by your CUTICURA REMEDIES. For two years the patient had suffered with Impetigo on the face and scaip and Eczema in its worst form on the back and shoulders. For eighteen months he was under medical treatment, sometimes better and sometimes worse, but never cured. As the Impetigo increased in severity his hair began to fall off rapidly, and he was fearful that he would lose it all. Eight months ago be began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and by perseverance and regular application of the remedies he is now not only cured of every phase of the disease, but has a better head of hair than ever before. I am therefore enabled, by personal observation, to certify to the great curative properties of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in the treatment of skin and scalp diseases. Yours truly, Sarnia, Canada, Oct. 14, 1879.

TETTER.

Mr. Robert Stewart has been a great sufferer for years with Tetter of a very aggravated form. He has received treatment from half a dozen of the best physicians in this locality with but little relief. Some time ago he began the use of the Curitural Remedies, which have helped him beyond all expectation. Also relieved a rheumatic affection of the hip, for which he is very thankful. There are other cases in this town that can give similar testimonials.

Respectfully yours.

W. V. BYARD, Druggist.

Sharon, Pa., June 10, 1879. TETTER.

PSORIASIS.

I have been afflicted for nineteen years with Psoriasis, and have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and stuff they call blood purifiers. Doctors did not know what to call my disease. I would scratch nights until I scratched myself raw; then it would dry and form into scales, which would all be scratched off next night, and so on. I have been completely cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

Most respectfully,

Concord-st., Custom Mill, Memphis, Tenn., June 16, 1879.

RINGWORM HUMOR

I have been afflicted with a troublesome skil disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume copper-colorus hue. It could be rubbed off list dandruff, at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have use blood purifiers, pilis, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procure the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, although used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching and restoring my skin to it natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. Respectfully, Milan, Mich., July 3, 1873.

Milan, Mich., July 3, 1873. RUNNING SORES. On the 32d of August, 1877, I had the misfortune of having my leg broken, in front of William Sterns dry goods store, by a case of goods being thrown on me. The bone was set by a physician of this place. Upon removing the splints, sores broke out from my knee to the heel, and several physicians called it variouse veins, and ordered me to wear rubber stockings. After wearing out about $35 worth of different makes without any signs of any cure, I bought the CUTICURA REMEDIES for the purpose, as I expressed it at the time, to be humbugged again. Before half had been used I was astonished to see the sores heal up one by one, and now not one sore is to be seeu. I recommended the same to a neighboring indy who had been troubled for years with a sore wrist. After using hundreds of remedies she is completely cured. Respectfully yours.

Dover, N. H.

SKIN HUMOR.

I commenced to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES last July. My face and head and some parts of my body were almost raw. My head was covered with scabs and sores, and my suffering was fearful. I had tried everything I had heard of in the East and West. My case was considered a very bad one. I have how not a particle of Skin Humor about me, and my case is considered wonderful. It has been the means of selling a great many of the CUTICURA REMEDIES in this part of the country. Respectfully yours, MRS. S. E. WHIPPLE.

Decatur, Mich., Nov. 17, 1873.

MILK CRUST.

Last summer my sister, while visiting in Boston, bought a box of CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP for her little boy's head, who had the milk crust for more than two years, and for which she had tried almost everything and exhausted the skill of several physicians. The CUTICURA cured him and he is now a fine, healthy-looking boy, with a beautiful head of hair. Yours, with a beautiful head of hair. Yours, 143 Clinton-st., Cincinnati, O.

TETTER ON THE HANDS. Having been troubled for many years with the Tetter, and spent many a hard-earned dollar, I was given a trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and thank God, my hands are well. I never had anything do me good like that. Sometime my heart was sore thinking I would have to give up altogether with my sore hands, and having a small family to take eare of; but oh! thank God, my hands are well, so I again return thanks. Respectfully, ELIZABETH BUCKLEY. Littleton, N. H., May 30, 1873.

(SCALD-HEAD.) SCALD-HEAD.

Since July last I have been using the Cuttoura for Scald-Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hair dress-ing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, Auditor Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R. Jackson, Mich., Dec. 20, 1878.

ALOPECIA. A year and a half ago last July, my hair began to fall off, leaving on the back of my head a small bare spot which gradually enlarged until it measured two or three inches. Another bare spot appeared on the top of my head. My hair became so dry and lifeless, that I could pull out large quantities without feeling it. After failing to receive any benefit from other remedies, I began the use of the Cuticura Remedies, Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally, and the Resolvent internally, which in about four months time completely reproduced my hair on every part of my scalp, and it is now as thick and strong as it ever was. Very respectfully, FRANK A. BEAN, Steam Fire Engine No. 6.

Boston, Jan. 24, 1880.
I certify to the truth of the above.
M. B. KIMBALL, Foreign No. 6.

DANDRUFF.

For the last twenty years I have been troubled about as bad as any one I ever saw with Dandruff. My scalp was completely covered with scales, sometimes nearly a quarter of an inch in size. I considered it incurable. About two months since I purchased CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, and in about two weeks after commencing to use them I found the Dandruff entirely gone. My scalp is now as free from it and as healthy as it could possibly be. I feel it my duty to both you and the public to state the above facts. Yours respectfully, THOMAS LEE, Yours respectfully, Sewing-Machine Dealer, No. 276 Frankford-av., Philadelphia, Pa.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS. Fred Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock-Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colo., writes: "I am so well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses." very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 23: "It works to a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has hearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommended it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin street, Boston, says: "My little daughter, 18 months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried most everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

ECZEMA ON A CHILD.

ECZEMA ON A CHILD.

My son, a lad 19 years of age, was afflicted with the worst form of Eczema for a period of eight years. So virulent was it that from the top of his head to within a few inches of his ankles he was one mass of scabs, which refused to yield to any treatment that was attempted. Every remedy that was suggested by friends or physicians was tried in vain. Allopathy, homeopathy, herbs, roots, sait-water baths, flaxseed poultices, soaps, ointments, and, in short, everything that could be done to eradicate the disorder seemed only to aggravate it, and the child's life became a burden to him, and the expense of the various experiments was a constant drain upon our resources.

My wife, reading the advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies in one of the daily papers, resolved to make one more attempt at a cure. (The disease was now encroaching upon his face, and seemed incurable.) I gave a reluctant consent to the proposal, and an interview was sought with a famous lady physician of New York, who made a most thorough examination of the case, and promised a cure without the least hesitation by the use of your Cuticura Remedies. In ONE WEEK there was a marked othange, the raw and angry sores began to grow pale, and along the outer edges scaled off, and as time wore on they began to disappear entirely, until at the present writing, the only vestige is one small spot upon the forearm, scarcely visible and fast disappearing.

Thus, after eight years of expense and anxiety, we have the intense satisfaction of seeing the child's kin as fair and smooth as it was before this dreadful cutaneous disorder attacked him. Sincerely yours,

LHAS, EAYRE HINKLE,

249 Fairmount-av., Jersey City Heights, N. J.

LICENSED TO WED.

Marriage-Permits Issued During the The number of licenses granted last week was eighty-two,—a slight gain over the week previous. Friday was an exceedingly poor day; in fact, the poorest known for a long time, only five taking out licenses. There was one very young couple in yesterday's list—the boy 19 and the girl 16—to commence the journey of married life together. Sixteen widows confinded to try the matrimonial lottery once or twice more, as the case may be. The ratio of widows to spinsters in the list is about 1 to 5. IN RESPONSE. Nay, nay! you are wrong, my darling: If you quaff at one draught the wine From the dainty golden goblet, Then the nectar is not divine.

Though Love may sweep like a simoon From the flowery lands of the South, Such tempests the glass will shiver, And Eden will perish from drouth.
